

Buckley, Mitchell To Vie for Appleton Mayoralty April 5

Challenger Outpolls Incumbent
4,771-4,321 in 4-Way Primary

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Continuing where he left off two years ago, attorney George Buckley posted an upset victory in Tuesday's primary to become the No. 1 contender for Mayor Clarence Mitchell's job in the April 5 general election.

The official vote tabulations in the four way contest for the top elective position in Appleton's city government, which will pay $14,000 a year as of May 1, were:

—Buckley, 2204 N. Viola St., 4,771.

—Mitchell, 312 W. Lindbergh St., 4,321.

—Robert Maves, 1903 E. Glendale, 3,261.

—Ronald Steward, 412 W. Commercial St., 111.

Both Maves and Steward were eliminated from further contention as result of the outcome of the city's first primary election in three decades. However, Maves, a former city clerk, made a good showing in defeat.

All-Out Campaign

The votes that went Maves' way now hold the key to the outcome of next month's finale which is expected to trigger all-out campaigning by the Mitchell and Buckley forces.

Buckley, a former one-term alderman who was beaten by a 1,200-vote margin two years ago in his first bid for the mayor's office, carried 13 of the city's 20 wards in making a surprisingly strong showing.

Mitchell, the city's chief executive for the past eight years and seeking his fifth term, carried the remaining seven wards in finishing 450 votes behind Buckley.

Early Lead

As the early returns started to come into the city clerk's office, Mitchell, Buckley and Maves were running fairly close. Buckley grabbed an early lead and added to it.

Maves was pushing Mitchell at the outset but the mayor scored heavily in several wards to finish with a 1,510-vote spread over the No. 3 contender.

Steward, an electronics engineer, was never in the game, making his best showing in the First Ward with 14 votes.

In the April, 1964, election Mitchell bested Buckley, 8,210 to 7,009, in capturing 53 per cent of the total vote. There was a 73 per cent voter turnout that year.

Tuesday's primary saw 12,464 of the city's 22,500 registered voters go to the polls—54.5 per cent of the eligible electorate.

Mitchell and Buckley made post-election statements in which they urged continued support in the April 5th runoff.

Buckley was more than pleased with his strong showing.

Nominated in other Appleton city-wide elections are:

For city clerk: Elden Broehm, incumbent, and Mrs. Dorothy Stillings, a former alderman.

For city attorney: George Greisch and David Geenen.

For city assessor: John A. Pierre, incumbent, and Cornelius Crowe.

which makes Mitchell an underdog for the first time since he defeated Robert Roemer and took over the mayor's reins in April, 1958.

Mitchell, an alderman and supervisor before being elected mayor, said he was not disappointed finishing runnerup and is mapping an intensive campaign.

"Although I haven't had time to analyze the balloting in the various wards, I would say that I am happy with the vote," Mitchell said Tuesday night.

Trend Not Final

Mitchell said the 450-vote difference did not show a final trend.

Sen. Aiken Sees More Support For LBJ Policy

Says President's
Effort to Avoid
Escalation Helped

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's senior Republican said today President Johnson's efforts to avoid escalation of the Viet Nam war have led critical senators to give him "more support than we did some time ago."

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said in an interview he wanted to give Johnson credit for his repeated attempts to avoid any reckless expansion of the war.

Aiken was among those who joined with Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield last January in warning of the dangers of a massive Southeast Asian war.

More Support

"I think we are giving the President more support than we did some time ago," he said.

"He seems to be keeping our military efforts within bounds."

A similar but more guarded view was voiced by another critic of Johnson's Viet Nam policies, Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn.

In a separate interview, Gore said he is giving "uneasy" support to the President's present course.

"I hope and believe that the President's course is now one of prudence and caution," Gore said.

"It keeps one nervous, however, to realize that every act of escalation has been taken only after bland assurances

France Says Reform Of NATO Impossible

Continue With Plans To Get Out

PARIS (AP) — France said today that reform of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is impossible and that President Charles de Gaulle's government is going ahead with plans to get out.

But the government expressed a willingness to talk over other mutual defense arrangements with the NATO allies.

A spokesman said after the weekly Cabinet meeting that France intends to take whatever measures she deems necessary concerning foreign military bases on French soil. He added that France is willing to discuss the consequences of such a move.

Stiffer Attitude

The statement outlining the French position was read to newsmen by Yvon Bourges, secretary of state for information. It seemed almost certain that the statement had been dictated by De Gaulle himself.

The announcement seemed to represent a further stiffening of the French attitude. For several years, De Gaulle has been insisting that NATO must be revised.

The measures which France intends to take unilaterally, Bourges said, concern French troops in NATO commands, French officers in the headquarters, and the foreign bases on French soil.

Useful Discussions

"The French government is willing to take up any useful discussions with Allied governments concerning practical consequences of the measures that it proposes to take, and of the arrangements for common actions that should be foreseen in case of conflict," Bourges said.

He recalled De Gaulle's letter Monday to President Johnson and disclosed that similar letters would be sent today to other Allied chiefs of government who are principally interested, presumably Britain, Canada and West Germany.

Earlier the U.S. ambassador to NATO, Harlan Cleveland, told NATO members that De Gaulle's demand for French command of U.S. troops in France concerns not only the United States but the entire alliance.

Post Guards In Ireland

DUBLIN (AP)—Strong police guards were posted at the British Embassy and other potential targets today to forestall new attacks by the anti-British demonstrators who blew up the Nelson Monument in the heart of Dublin.

Police guarded the homes of embassy staff members and the Phoenix Park monument commemorating the Duke of Wellington, Britain's victor over the French at the Battle of Waterloo.

Detectives said at least eight men have been brought in for questioning about the explosion early Tuesday which brought down the 20-foot statue of the hero of Trafalgar and more than half of the 114-foot column which supported it.

Fringe Group

Police believe the explosion was the work of an extremist fringe group of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, which is sworn to end Ireland's partition.

Municipal workmen carried away Nelson's severed head to a remote yard of the Board of Public Works. His sword was missing, presumably flung by early arrivals at the scene.

The City Council said it would pull down the ragged stump and massive base that remained.

'Green Berets' Lead Defense

Communists Hit Outpost In Fierce, Unsuccessful Fight

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — At least two Communist companies assaulted an isolated camp of U.S. Special Forces men and mountain tribesmen early today near the Laotian border. The attack failed.

The 300 Montagnard troops and their 12 "green beret" American advisers beat off the attackers in a day-long battle around the triangular mud and log fortress, radio reports from the camp said.

During the barrage the Communists shot down an armed U.S. Army C47 transport sent to help the besieged garrison in the Ashua Valley, 60 miles southwest of Da Nang. Four men were killed in the crash.

Rescue helicopters brought out three wounded crewmen of the C47.

Heavy Fire

But heavy Communist fire prevented the helicopters from bringing out the dead.

About 200 Communists launched the attack at 2 a.m. At dawn, U.S. forces lost contact with the camp, raising fears it may have been overwhelmed as the Reds descended on it in an appeal from Castro to spare their lives.

At nightfall, a flare plane flying overhead to provide illumination picked up a weak but the four after telling the five-man military court that Castro was saying "Everything is under control. He has asked him not to seek the death penalty."

Large Threatens Legislative Intervention in Site Choice

GOP Solon Warns CCHE Panel 'More Manipulation' Planned

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — If the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education approves the Shorewood location for the northeastern Wisconsin campus of the University of Wisconsin, the State Legislature may intervene in the matter, State Sen. Gerald Lorge (R-Bear Creek) warned Tuesday.

Lorge made his statement to members of a special site selection subcommittee of the CCHE shortly after they had voted 3.0 to recommend that the CCHE shortly after they had

His charge came after an 80-minute debate before the subcommittee, which hinged on the criteria adopted by the statutory site selection committee which were to be used in determining the recommended location of the institution and the criteria used in recommending the Shorewood site.

Make Manipulations

Lorge, leaving the meeting room at the CCHE headquarters after the vote, shouted back into the room that "There will be a lot more manipulations before this is through."

Assemblyman Jerome Quinn (R-Green Bay) described the vote as a "major victory" for supporters of the Green Bay location.

Another major battle is expected when the recommendation of the site comes before the full CCHE meeting here Thursday for approval. The site also must be approved by both the State Building Commission and the governor.

Members of the CCHE site selection subcommittee are for mer Gov. Walter Kohler, chairman of the CCHE, U.W. Regent Charles Gellatt and Robert Pierce of the Board of Regents of State Colleges. Chester Wauwig of Milwaukee was absent.

On Previous Panel

Lorge told the subcommittee members before the vote was taken that two members of the four-man statutory site selection group had been members of the committee which more than a year ago recommended the Green Bay site as the ideal location for the new campus of the University of Wisconsin.

Lorge referred to them as Reynolds, men and later identified them at state planner Walter Johnson and state architect James Galbraith. The earlier site group operated during the administration of former Gov. John Reynolds, a Democrat.

He said that their presence on the statutory committee was demanded by Green Bay legislators as a condition to their support of a bill which passed the 1965 session of the Legislature and which authorized the construction of a campus following a new site search.

Accusations Denied

Lorge's latter accusations were denied by State Sen. Robert Warren (D-Green Bay) who described the process of site selection as "wood location which overflows scientific."

Nothing is as helter skelter as he said many other politicians and Chamber of Commerce-types trying to pick locations favorable because of a university site, he said. He added that the Green Bay area representatives only desired to keep off the committee politicians who might be prejudiced in their site considerations.

Other members of the statutory site selection committee were its chairman, Assemblyman Glen Pommerening (R-Wauwatosa), serving as a representative of the state building commission, and U.W. President Fred Harrington.

Not Accessible

Assemblyman David Martin (D-Neenah) told the subcommittee that he would have opposed the selection of a site in Neenah or Menasha as vigorously as he could. He criticized Green Bay proposal. That location, he said, is not accessible to provide educational opportunities to all the students of the Fox River Valley. The entire metropolitan area of Green Bay lies between the student from the southern end of the Valley and the Shorewood site, he said. That fact would hamper college attendance due to commuting difficulties, it was suggested.

Martin said that any site between Appleton and Green Bay along U.S. 41 would be more suitable to fill the needs of the area students. John Lorus editor, The Post-Crescent agreed with the latter site proposal.

Physical Beauty

Lorge also contended that the statutory site committee had placed heavy emphasis on the process of aesthetic qualities of the Shorewood location which overflows scientific. If other area proponents had known that this was to be an important final criterion, he said, many other Commerce-types trying to pick locations favorable because of their beauty could also have been proposed.

He suggested the High Cliff Park area as an example.

Warren countered and stated that the importance of physical beauty had been spelled out by the statutory committee before the receipt of official proposals. Pommerening told the CCHE subcommittee that his group had paid special attention to policies adopted last fall by the CCHE when considering sites for the NEW campus.

While designated as a commuter university, the broad geographical area to be served made it impossible that all prospective students could travel daily to their homes, he noted. The CCHE last fall recommended that at the NEW campus 60 per cent to 60 per cent of the students be housed in public or private rooming facilities at the site.

Must Room

That figure might not be perfectly accurate, he suggested, but he said that at least a majority of the students would be forced to room on or near the campus.

The CCHE also recommended at the same time that a site be selected close to an existing freshman sophomore center in the area and the Shorewood site. Pommerening noted that less than three miles from the existing Green Bay facility.

Proponents of the Green Bay site and its opponents are both expected to again present their arguments to the CCHE meeting Thursday.

Keep Quality

In most discussions of change from old ways, there is concern

The public now is collectively bargaining for medical care. The medical profession has been concerned with what it thinks the patient needs. Now society is demanding things that have not been related to need, said Dr. George A. Wolf, Jr., vice president for medical and dental affairs of Tufts University and executive director of Tufts New England Medical Center.

Growing Industry

In 1940, one in three of all health workers was a physician, said Dr. William H. Stewart, surgeon general of the U.S. Public Health Service. Now it is one in 10. The health industry is the third largest in the nation and the fastest growing.

By some estimates, a million more health professionals will be needed within a few years. Medical organizations have initiated programs to recruit personnel and help solve manpower problem. The loan program to medical students of the American Medical Association is one example.

The main push to augment manpower is being financed by federal funds.

Better Use

In a health education message to Congress on March 1, President Johnson recommended a three-year program of grants for training health workers. The money would be used to build and improve schools, provide fellowships and develop new types of health personnel.

Outagamie to Investigate Legal Action on Site Choice

Ponath Authorized to Explore Means of Getting Fair Decision

By a unanimous 50-0 vote, the Outagamie County Board Tuesday authorized A. W. Ponath, corporation counsel, to investigate "any necessary legal proceedings" which may be necessary to secure a final fair decision on the site for the northeastern branch of the University of Wisconsin.

The board passed a resolution urging that the recommended

Outagamie County Board Supv. Eugene Kloes (Appleton 4) made a recommendation Tuesday afternoon about a possible future function for the statutory site selection committee which chose a northeast Green Bay location for the new University of Wisconsin-Northeast.

"I suggest," Kloes said, "that the federal government send the committee to Spain where they can hunt for the lost hydrogen bomb."

Shorewood site on the east side of Green Bay for the new university he rejected.

The resolution authorized Ponath to "explore every avenue of approach," including legal action, "which the situation may require in order to secure an ultimate decision which will be fair to all interested parties, and fully protecting the interests of Outagamie County and its environs." Send Messages Ponath was authorized to present a copy of the resolution to the Coordinating Committee on Higher Education, Gov. Warren Knowles, the State Building Commission and the Site Selection Committee. On a motion by Supv. Ervin Conradt (Bovina), who also serves as assemblyman from the county's Third District, the board's feelings were relayed in telegrams sent immediately to Gov. Warren Knowles; Walter Kohler, chairman of the Coordinating Committee on Higher Education, and Roger Schranz, secretary of the State Building Commission.

The resolution, which was signed by the board's 11-man executive committee, said the

Attempt to Merge Units Again Fails

May Once More Study Union of Traffic Police, Sheriff's Force

For the fourth time in as many years the Outagamie County Board has defeated a proposal to combine the traffic police and sheriff's departments.

However, when the proposal was defeated Tuesday afternoon, it was defeated in a new and novel manner. Both opponents and some of the proponents of the principle of law enforcement consolidation combined to vote Tuesday afternoon's resolution down by a 31 to 17 vote.

Several of the "no" voters

Tuesday came from supervisors who objected to the hastiness in which the motion was prepared and several problems which the resolution failed to take into consideration.

New Resolution — However, the principle of law enforcement consolidation wasn't killed as a result of Tuesday's action. A group of supervisors was making plans late Tuesday to introduce another resolution at today's board session. Today's proposal was likely to be an "advisory referendum to future county boards." The resolution probably will be on whether the board favors the principle of consolidating the two departments.

Supervisors spent about three hours arguing about the plan before opponents and the principle and opponents of the hurriedly prepared resolution combined to vote it down.

Some of the comments made by supervisors during the debate were:

Supv. Eugene Kloes (Appleton 4) — "This resolution was brought in for something to talk about, and we're making ourselves look foolish."

Smaller Newspapers — "This county has made some strides in reorganization, despite what we read in some of the smaller county newspapers, but we've always had our little empires where people are reluctant to give up."

Unique Institution

Legislators, Knowles Observe Iowa College Which Shows a Profit

OTTUMWA, Iowa — "I think it is well worth our while to take a look at all of the methods of economy in the field of education and certainly any institution that can operate on a profitable basis is unique in education," Gov. Warren P. Knowles, who is visiting Parsons College in Fairfield, told newsmen here today.

The governor, about 60 Wisconsin legislators, representatives of the University of Wisconsin and each of the nine schools in the state university system as well as members of the state Coordinating Committee for Higher Education arrived at Fairfield, Iowa, to check a college being operated at a profit. Parsons College boasts this accomplishment in a day of ever increasing appropriations to higher education.

Problem in Wisconsin — We have a problem in Wisconsin, the governor said, with increasing enrollment. "Our projections are that we will have more than 145,000 students in school by 1970 and feel we must do some winnowing in the whole field of education," he said.

Knowles told newsmen that he had first been introduced to the successful Parsons plan when President Millard Roberts was in Wisconsin, describing the plan to the State Chamber of Commerce. "As a result of this," Knowles said, "a great many of our industrial leaders who are our big tax payers became interested in attempting to develop an interest on the part of the state, the legislators and many of the people in the field of education."

"There is nothing, in my opinion," he added, "that is more important today than the whole field of education because it is the very cornerstone of all social and economic growth and certainly, the passport to success for the individual student."

Furnish Transportation — The transportation, according to Knowles, was furnished by various Wisconsin industries and arranged by the State Chamber of Commerce because of their interest in providing the best educational opportunities for the citizens of the state.

He felt that the trip would not become a political issue because "the citizens of Wisconsin are greatly concerned about our number one problem — education."

"With our ever-growing population, we want to take a look at any type of an institution that can provide economics and still provide quality education," Knowles said.

Man Pleads No Contest To Shoplifting Charge, Put on Probation

William E. Hampton, 28, 205 W. College Ave., was found guilty Tuesday afternoon of stealing five cigars, a container of deodorant, a tube of toothpaste and two toothbrushes from the Red Owl Store on Feb. 19.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller withheld sentence and placed Hampton, who pleaded no contest, on probation to the State Department of Public Welfare for two years.

The complaint was filed by the assistant manager of the Appleton store.

Lame Duck Session Unusually Busy

Board Takes Up Controversial Issues

In its last session as a 55-member body, the Outagamie County Board seems to be bringing up every controversial item that has come before it in recent years.

On Tuesday, and again this afternoon, the 55 supervisors debated the issue of consolidating the county's traffic police and sheriff's departments into a single law enforcement unit.

During this morning's session, the board got on another of its favorite debate topics — controlled access highways.

With only Supv. Edward Peotter (Town of Osborn), chairman of the highway committee objecting, the board passed a resolution offered by 12 supervisors from the Little Chute-Kaukauna area which requests the State Highway Commission to turn access control on County Trunk OO over to the county.

Includes Entire Road — The original resolution specified the portion of "OO" between the western intersection of the county trunk with U. S. 41 west to French Road. However, on the motion of Supv. Thomas Thorson (Grand Chute), the resolution was amended to include all of "OO" in the county.

The resolution specifies that the road would remain under controlled access, but under county, instead of state, supervision.

The resolution passed with comparatively little discussion. But then, Peotter stood up to explain to the board why he had opposed the motion.

'Popularity Contest' — "It becomes a popularity contest," the veteran lawmaker said, "when you start piecemealing out access sites to a controlled access road. For that reason I'd like the State Highway Commission to maintain property owner for the right to build a driveway from the highway to his property. In that way, the property owner said somebody wanted to build 'a very attractive home' on the property, but he couldn't sell the land until it had a driveway."

Supv. George Kroes (Vandenberg) then made a motion that the board recommend to the Highway Commission that the access be allowed.

"That's just what I was trying to tell you just a few minutes before," Peotter said. This time, Peotter got some support from other supervisors, but not enough because the petition was approved by a 30 to 22 vote.

The board also passed an ordinance which sets up the structure of the new 47-man reapportioned board, which meets in April. No structural changes were made in personnel, committee, or responsibilities. However, because of the lesser number of supervisors the number of supervisors on each committee was reduced to five.

Supervisors Assailed For Adverse Publicity

Carl Ray of R and R Dodge, Inc., Says Board Responsible for Squad Car Issues

Carl Ray, general manager of county traffic patrol to task R and R Dodge, Inc., of about comments they made Appleton, this morning told the Outagamie County supervisors that he was holding "each and every one" of them responsible for what he said is adverse publicity concerning the county squad cars.

Ray made the comment during a short address at the opening of the second day of the March county board meeting. He appeared after consent was asked by Supv. Emmett W. Root (Town of Ellington).

It was the second time Ray has assailed county officials on the squad car issue. The first time was Feb. 11 when he appeared at a county law enforcement committee meeting and took Sheriff Calvin Spice and Sgt. Lowell Veitch of the Peotter's prediction appeared to be correct, because the next order of business was a petition from a Town of Vandenberg property owner for the right to build a driveway from the highway to his property. In that way, the property owner said somebody wanted to build "a very attractive home" on the property, but he couldn't sell the land until it had a driveway.

Incumbents Defeated in Primary Elections for County Board were Alvin Sasman, who was trying for his third consecutive term as Town of Black Creek supervisor, and Supv. Walter Kilian (Town of Maple Creek).

Primary elections were held in four county supervisory districts.

Surviving the first round to go into April 5 balloting were: District 6, City of Appleton, Charles E. Wussow, 1532 W. Franklin St., and Robert F. Schmieder, 603 N. Summit St.; District 38, the Towns of Center and Ellington, Supv. Emmett W. Root (Town of Ellington) and Henry Van Straten, route 1, Hortonville.

General Election
Chosen for the April general election from District 43, Towns of Black Creek and Osborn and the Village of Black Creek, were incumbent supervisors I. A. (Curly) Grunwaldt (Village of Black Creek) and Edward F. Peotter (Town of Osborn).

Surviving the primary from a field of five for District 47, Towns of Maple Creek and Deer Creek and the Village of Bear Creek, were Henry Breiting, route 2, New London, and Lawrence J. Rebmam, Bear Creek.

District 6 was the only one of the four districts requiring primaries where there was not an incumbent in the running.

Wussow, a free-lance writer, has lived in the county 24 years. He saw active duty with the Navy during World War II and now is a lieutenant in the Naval Reserve.

decision by the site selection committee "is not based on proper criteria and evaluation of the committee as is required by the legislative act prior to arriving at a recommendation."

Improper Deliberations
The resolution also charged that "the findings and conclusions of the committee were improperly arrived at in secret meetings not contemplated under the law."

"And," the resolution said, "the committee, by not recommending several alternative sites for the northeastern district, is violating the intent of the statute creating it and by doing this, is appropriating to itself the function of determining the site when, in fact, the governor, the State Building Commission and the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education have the power of finally selecting a site from among the alternatives which the committee should have recommended."

Not Accessible
The resolution also brought out the arguments that the so-called "Shorewood Golf Course site" is not accessible to the majority of potential commuting students and that the site would "require the building of new bridges and roads at an expense of between $40 and $50 million, in the interest of economy, can and should be saved."

After the board voted on the resolution, Supv. Sylvester Esler (Appleton 18) suggested that car pools of county board supervisors be formed so that a large delegation of Outagamie County government representatives could be in Madison Thursday morning for the meeting of the Coordinating Committee on Higher Education.

Motorist Denies Tipsy Driving

Clifford N. Dockter, 36, who listed his address as Box 227, Appleton, Tuesday afternoon pleaded innocent of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller ordered bond of $225 and set trial for July 11.

Dockter was arrested about 8:15 p.m. Saturday on County Trunk BB in the Town of Grand Chute. A state patrolman made the arrest.

A total of 66 candidates will seek 47 Outagamie County Board seats in the April 5 election, eight of 74 having been eliminated Tuesday. The board is being reduced from 55 members with the inauguration of the reapportionment plan approved last year.

only supplied what the county ordered," charged that demands for law enforcement (equipment) should have been set up beforehand and more planning should have been done.

Heated Battle
In referring to publicity about the matter, Ray said, "I'm not blaming Spice. He made remarks in a heated battle about things caused by irresponsibility and poor management."

Ray continued, "Don't take a businessman and hang him on a cross because he supplied a product you asked for."

He charged that the county supervisors were responsible, because they "have not done a thing to stop the irresponsible remarks being made."

Supv. Norman Beyer (Appleton 20) asked Ray if he thought there has been any deliberate attempts to abuse the squad cars by county patrolmen.

Minor Abuse
Said Ray, "There has been some minor abuse in some respects, but not enough to bother talking about."

Beyer then questioned Ray about alleged steering problems with a squad car that was demolished when it struck a utility pole Sunday, Feb. 27, on the Quarry Road.

Beyer said he had written daily reports of four patrolmen who said the steering was not working properly prior to the accident and that the car was brought to R and R for service the day before the accident and the patrolman was told to bring it back Monday.

Ray said his servicemen checked the car over on Saturday and indicated there was no serious problem with the steering. He also said one of the other patrolmen who had been driving the car stated he did not believe there was a problem with the steering.

Mark Catlin, (Appleton 7), who objected to any further questions as being "ridiculous," charged that Ray strayed "way out of bounds in criticizing board members for being responsible" for publicity on the squad car issue.

Improved Community Services Aim of County Hospital Study

BY EDITH L. BOCK
News-Record Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — Improved services without duplication of existing programs and facilities were aims of trustees and county board committee members in a study of Winnebago County's mental hospital and its best services to the community which began Tuesday at the hospital.

Meeting with Dr. Ralph H. Archer, director of hospital services of the state division of mental hygiene and Supt. Donald E. Zboras were institutions trustees and institutions committee members. They reviewed a year of hospital operations since certification of the hospital.

The hospital for diagnosis and treatment of first admission and readmission cases.

It is up to the county board to decide what kind of service your hospital will provide. Dr. Archer advised. Personally, I think this unit intensive treatment is a duplication, he said after a review of the service utilized by county residents at nearby Winnebago State Hospital.

Dr. Archer said the county hospital's idea of usefulness might be found in service during the convalescent period following a five treatment at the state hospital. State hospital services, he pointed out, don't quite go on in the areas of vocational and rehabilitation.

Vocational therapy and other rehabilitation services offer an excellent opportunity for the Winnebago County facility, he declared.

First Admissions

In Winnebago County, Dr. Archer detailed, there are about 25 first admissions and readmissions annually. Yet in six months some 100 county residents were admitted to the state hospital, indicating that the county diagnostic and treatment program is not meeting the need it was intended to serve.

If Winnebago County wants to continue its state certification as a first admission facility, psychiatric services must be increased to some 20 to 24 hours a week to meet the 200-patient admission load, Dr. Archer advised.

List Schedule For Blue Inn Youth Meeting

MENASHA — Some 18 officers of the Blue Inn are expected to attend the 10th annual State Youth Conference on the Wisconsin State University-LaCrosse campus March 31-April 2.

The three-day event will draw representatives of youth groups throughout the state. It is sponsored by the Wisconsin Youth Committee.

Gov. Warren P. Knowles will keynote the general session on April 1 and will present selected youths with Young American Medals. Also scheduled to address the group are Dan Schut, director of the Wisconsin Highway Safety division and John Howard Griffin, author of "Black Like Me."

Problem Topics

The youths will discuss such problems as the population explosion, water pollution, mental health and foreign relations during workshop sessions.

Those attending from Menasha are Pat Conway, Blue Inn president; Rudy Mueller, vice president; Sara Gunther, secretary; Connie Cosgrove, treasurer; Jean Bachhuber, Nathan Page and Mike Kufner, senior directors; Barb Steffin, Debbie Roeland and Kathy Martin, junior directors; Kevin Conway, Chris Vaneevoven and Alice Kenney, sophomore directors; Chuck Gilbert and Greg Christoph, freshman directors; John Herziger, delegate; Kenneth Nelson, publicity; and Anne Hyde, projects chairman.

Recreation Director Robert Vaneevoven will accompany the boys and the group is seeking a chaperone for the girls for the three-day event. Expenses for the companions will be paid by the Menasha Park and Recreation Department.

Seeks Blueprint

Don W. Colburn, Neenah, an institutions trustee, said the board is seeking a blueprint for county hospital operations that will fill the community need for expanded mental health services.

Summing up his advice, Dr. Archer said continued certification of the county program probably will cost additional money for the required psychiatric service. You aren't going to do any better in initial treatment of any given 100 cases than is the state, he declared, but you can give services they can't give.

Reporting to the groups, Zboras said he thought the additional psychiatric service could be arranged in cooperation with the state hospital if the county decides to continue certification of the initial intensive care program. He added, however, that it might create some problem in hospital staff.

Froelich to Direct Retail Unit in Drive

Froelich, manager of the One-Hour Martinizing firm, is busy now organizing his retail solicitation crew and distributing kits to the members.

Kits have been taken to the area schools for distribution to the faculty members who will direct this part of the drive among school personnel.

The Neenah-Menasha fund drive goal is $25,000 which is the combined goal of last year's separate campaigns. Based on population the joint chapter will be asked to contribute part of its funds to National Red Cross for disaster work such as was done in Wisconsin's Kickapoo Valley area last year and to help stricken people in areas devastated by tornadoes and hurricanes.

The disaster funds also are available should occurrence in the Twin City area make it necessary for the Red Cross to move in with emergency help.

Here's the Reason for Higher Medical Costs

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Regardless of what happens to our overall cost of living in the years directly ahead, there's no hope for a reversal in the upward price trend of medical care — a necessity which right now takes 6 cents of every consumer spending $1 in our country.

Medical care prices have been climbing relentlessly through the post-World War II period, have actually risen twice as fast as the average of all other consumer prices during most of this entire era.

Admittedly, the rise in the services as doctors' and dentists' fees, eye exams and eyeglasses, hospital rates. Admittedly, the true increase in the cost of medical care may be overstated because the statistics do not fully reflect the mounting effectiveness of the care we receive. Because of advances in medical technology, patients can get more real services from each day's hospital stay or each doctor's visit than ever before.

The Causes

Nevertheless, there's no denying the reality of past increases or ducking the virtual certainty of future increases. The conditions behind the trend are so primarily due to declines in the prices of prescriptions and of Economic Advisers' drugs and to a slowdown in the pace of rise for such medical

Leopoldville Drivers Take Lives in Hands

By MICHAEL R. CODEL
LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Two good ways to risk death in the Congo: 1. Join the mercenaries to fight rebels; 2. Drive a car in Leopoldville.

As the first is safer, let's look at No. 2.

Driving habits here are at first unbelievable, but after a while reduce themselves to simple terror.

The right of way is on the right, and most drivers accept this. Vigilance is necessary for about 10 per cent who must think they're in England and bear left. A variation is the one who decides to back up a couple of hundred yards the wrong way down a one-way street. These are usually taxi drivers running back to get a fare.

Taxi Lesson

Taxis are a lesson in them. The cars generally have not undergone a serious maintenance since they were obtained. How they were obtained is still a matter of question in a rumble of broken parts and among car theft victims.

Headlights, good brakes, signals, a complete chassis and unworn piston rings are out. Rubber dice dangling from the rear-view mirror and plastic flowers planted along the dashboard are in.

The mirror, by the way, is for the driver to view himself, never to look back at a car.

To become a taxi driver one must reach a rather loose agreement with the authorities not to gouge the client much more than is on the rate card, and to print a "taxi" sign which must be slapped in front of the driver, guaranteeing obscured vision.

Pass First

Taxis pick up their fares by cruising until they have passed the client by a hundred yards, and then backing up in the stream of traffic. Then a bargaining session occurs in front of a line of honking cars until something approximating the ob-legal fare is agreed upon. After that the taxi and fare grind off in a rumble of broken parts and a blue cloud of smoke.

Taxis also seem to be exempt from giving the proper right of way or signaling. There are a few traffic cops. At peak hours, three control the flow along the city's streets. They are assisted by a corner man who is in perpetual argument with one of the fender while a hundred more drift by.

Usually the police wait until a total traffic jam occurs to get off their stand and join the corner man for a smoke.

There are a few foot patrolmen to check offenders.

Parking Different

Going down the street one must run a gauntlet of tail fins protruding from cars whose noses and nothing else, are touching the curb. This is not angled parking. This is parallel parking, Congolese style.

Double parking is a gem, too. It's usually done without an in-coming car to double up on. It's easier to draw up next to an empty space, block the street,

Nineteen-Year-Old Robert Sharby, an artist-student at Berkshire Community College, Pittsfield, Mass., who joined the army decided it might be wise to visit his own barber before the army shearers could get their scissors on his mop. (AP Wirephoto) and abandon the car.

There are two forms of speed, too much and too little. Leopoldville has its collection of hot-shots who tool down the boulevard at 80 miles per hour or so. It has some more decrepit cars which can't top 20.

No exact accident rate figures are available but newspaper pictures, remnants of windshield glass and the ever-present symphony of screeching tires tell the story.

Other small items such as defunct cars abandoned in the middle of the street, must be lived with.

Who's to blame? Some say the Congolese got as much training to run cars as they did to run a government, which is about nil. Others blame the former Belgian colonialists.

Belgium was reportedly the last country in Europe to require drivers' licenses. Some say it's because nobody could pass the test. In any case, it soon becomes necessary to join the mob and wheel at random, or walk.

Indian Army Hacks Through Jungle to Put Down Uprising

Ailing Woman Saved Through Generosity

$10,000 a Year Provided to Operate Vital Kidney Device

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The 3,625 residents of nearby Mascoutah Ill. have mobilized to help save the life of Mrs. John Votratin.

Mrs. Votratin, 58, the wife of a school teacher and mother of two sons, took her first home treatment Tuesday on a kidney machine paid for with funds collected by the citizens of Mascoutah.

"I'm thankful," said Mrs. Votratin. "I didn't know I had so many friends."

The machine does the job of a kidney, which the kidneys of Mrs. Votratin have bright disease.

Fellow parishioners at St. John United Church of Christ in Mascoutah started the drive Jan. 16. Two chairmen were selected for the campaign which already has raised more than $17,000. It costs $10,000 a year to operate the kidney machine.

Fund Raising Events

A dance, a chicken supper and a Zion Lutheran Church choir concert were a few of the money-raising events. The Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts staged fund drives. Three Roman Catholic organizations made large contributions.

My hometown church, St. Paul's United Church of Christ at Waterloo, Ill., heard about the money we needed," said Mrs. Votratin. "It had a special collection and sent us $3,600."

Painters, carpenters and electricians built a room in the basement and prepared it for the machine. Their work was free.

Her husband was trained to operate the machine by the Washington University Medical School at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis.

"I will still have to go back to Barnes for checkups about once each month," said Mrs. Votratin.

Dr. Herbert Lubowitz, a member of the medical school staff, said. Without the treatments available by the kidney machine, death probably would come within six weeks. With the machine, it is theoretically possible to live almost normally.

Mizo Tribesmen Cause Unrest In Assam State on Burma Border

EDITOR'S NOTE — A military campaign is under way in northeast India against rebellious tribesmen. AP correspondent Joe McGowan Jr. reports on the action from the Assam State capital.

By JOE MCGOWAN JR. SHILLONG, India (AP) — Indian army columns pushed through sniper-infested jungle today toward two major towns overrun by Mizo tribesmen in southeast Assam State.

An official spokesman said the relief parties set out from Aijal headquarters town for the Massachusetts-size district that extends down between East Pakistan and Burma. Their objectives were Champhai, near the Burmese border, and Lungleh to the south.

The spokesman said rebels who had been attacking Dawm gawn near Aijal have been dispersed and casualties have been inflicted. Aijal was also overrun but was recaptured.

Casualties Light

Casualties on our side have been very light, he said. Since the Mizo attacks have been at night, it is difficult to say what their casualties have been but we presumed they were very heavy.

Newsmen are prohibited from entering the Mizo district.

The spokesman denied one published report that an air force plane was hit by ground fire while strafing a rebel position.

Newsmen were asked not to use the terms "rebel" and "tribesmen" and instead to call the Mizos misguided or lawless elements. The government is preparing leaflets which are to be dropped over Mizo territory urging the tribesmen to abandon their uprising.

Special broadcasts also are being beamed at the Mizos by All India Radio, the government network.

Riflemen Ambushed

The spokesman disclosed that one platoon of the Assam Rifles which set out from Demaguri for Lungleh apparently was ambushed and may have been wiped out.

Reports reaching Shillong, Assam's capital, said about 50 men were in the platoon and the survivors surrendered to the Mizos.

Communication with Lungleh was lost shortly after the Mizos revolted the night of Feb. 28. The tribesmen, a Mongol origin people of high intellect and physical ability, want their own independent state.

The spokesman told newsmen in this beautiful wooded hill station that air force pilots flew over Lungleh and reported most of the city's 2,000 residents appeared to have fled into the surrounding hills.

The city looks deserted, the spokesman said.

Charged With Selling Nuclear Secrets

George John Gessner drew his first free breath after five years in government custody and said. Justice delayed is justice denied.

The 29-year-old former soldier showed no elation at his sudden and unexpected release from the U.S. penitentiary where he has been since his conviction June 4, 1961, of giving nuclear weapons secrets to the Soviet Union. He was the first convicted under the Atomic Energy Act.

An appeals court last year nullified Gessner's conviction and life sentence because it found his confession — basis of the government's case — was made involuntarily.

U.S. Atty. Newell George stood before the same three judges Tuesday and declared, "Without the confession we do not have sufficient evidence to go to trial. He filed a motion to dismiss charges against Gessner and a few hours later Gessner was free.

Continued Interrogation

Asked why he had signed the confession, Gessner replied, "Because of continued interrogation month after month and promise of total immunity."

"Of course it was not true," he said.

How can a man have plans when he has been locked up five years or better?" said Gessner when asked about his future. "I hope to return to college — if any college will have me. If he does go to school, he said.

Woman Injured

A half-mile from the blast, Mrs. Glendon McGuire awoke to the crash of the explosion and was cut on the feet by flying glass. Her injuries were termed not serious.

Five companies and civil defense crews from within a 50-mile radius poured into the town of 2,565 to fight the fire.

The siding is near a rice storage and drying elevator, serviced by natural gas, and officials said they halted firefighting efforts because of an unconfirmed report of a natural gas leak and the danger of more explosions from munitions and chemicals.

The area around the fire was cleared but no evacuation of Corning residents was made.

U.S. Atty. Newell George stood before the same three judges Tuesday and declared, "Without the confession we do not have sufficient evidence to go to trial. He filed a motion to dismiss charges against Gessner and a few hours later Gessner was free.

Asked why he had signed the confession, Gessner replied, "Because of continued interrogation month after month and promise of total immunity."

"Of course it was not true," he said.

How can a man have plans when he has been locked up five years or better?" said Gessner when asked about his future. "I hope to return to college — if any college will have me. If he does go to school, he said.

Woman Injured

A half-mile from the blast, Mrs. Glendon McGuire awoke to the crash of the explosion and was cut on the feet by flying glass. Her injuries were termed not serious.

Five companies and civil defense crews from within a 50-mile radius poured into the town of 2,565 to fight the fire.

The siding is near a rice storage and drying elevator, serviced by natural gas, and officials said they halted firefighting efforts because of an unconfirmed report of a natural gas leak and the danger of more explosions from munitions and chemicals.

The area around the fire was cleared but no evacuation of Corning residents was made.

FDA Commissioner Man of Great Drive

'Go-Go-Goddard' Bans Lozenges, Makes Decisions in Short Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new commissioner of food and drugs is a man of action — "I within 90 days with presentation as to the efficacy — the effectiveness of these drugs — there were no such submit-tals."

Dr. James L. Goddard took his oath as commissioner Jan. 18.

With a smile, he says he inherited a lot of longstanding drug cases which have been referred to as "the dead cats in the closet."

In a drive that already has led to many people in the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare referring to him as "Go-Go-Goddard," he has announced a number of major clean-up decisions in less than two months.

Antibiotic Lozenges

So far, these are topped by the sweeping action of Tuesday for ultimate removal from the market of all nonprescription antibiotic lozenges and some other antibiotic preparations which may be purchased without prescription and bear claims they are effective against sore throat.

A spokesman said the four orders added up to one of the most sweeping drug removals the agency ever has ordered.

Asked about his philosophy in reaching decisions with such widespread impact, Goddard said in an interview.

"Basically, I try to take the facts available and make decision based on that factual data. This agency some two years ago offered the manufacturers of these antibiotic products an opportunity to come forward within 90 days with presentation as to the efficacy — the effectiveness of these drugs — there were no such submit-tals."

Too Much Time

"I do feel that an undue length of time had passed and that there can be no claim of precipitate action."

"I am not saying that the compounds can't be marketed without the antibiotic. I feel sure some will be. Many were made before antibiotics were available and I feel sure some will again be marketed with the antibiotic removed."

He said that when he became commissioner he knew that the antibiotic proceeding had been pending a long time and asked for data on it. He is a physician, the first to head FDA in recent years, and is a career commissioned officer in the Public Health Service.

No Recall

The products already in the channels of manufacture, distribution and sale will not be seized or recalled, Goddard said because it was not thought that the contained dangers were pervasive enough to require a recall.

The dangers the scientists cite, he said, are that sensitization of individuals may occur or that continued use of antibiotics in small dosages might contribute to development of resistant strains of bacteria.

"This was a part of the whole problem, as well as the lack of effectiveness," he said.

He also said there was the angle of economic protection of the consumer, "who has been led to believe a product will perform something, and when it doesn't, he is not getting his money's worth."

Rotary President Suggests Program to Aid Depressed Nations

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — C. P. H. Teenstra, president of Rotary International, says his 520,000-member organization should launch a worldwide program of service in economically depressed nations.

Teenstra of the Netherlands said Rotarians should abandon any concept of Rotary as "a pleasant luncheon club" and seek instead to help solve the problems of discontent in much of the world.

Kastenmeier Asks Funds for Forest Lab

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Appropriations subcommittee was urged Tuesday by Rep. Robert Kastenmeier, D-Wis., to approve $1,300,000 for the expansion and modernization of the Forest Products Laboratory at Madison, Wis.

The pressure of the costs of the war in Viet Nam, Kastenmeier said, "should not be allowed to curtail research so essential to the healthy growth of our national economy."

Place a map of the wooded areas of the nation over a map showing the economically distressed areas, and you are struck by the fact he said that the nation's forested areas overlap these poverty areas to a great extent in Appalachia, the Ozarks, and certain areas in the South and Southwest.

Kastenmeier said the research program at Madison is of great importance since it develops new products, new chemicals and new jobs.

Japanese Governors To Visit U. S. Officials

ALGUSTA, Maine (AP) — Japanese governors will return a visit by 10 U.S. governors to their country when they visit the United States in May.

Gov. John H. Reed, chairman of the National Governors' Conference, said the Japanese will visit seven of the 10 states from the Far East. The seven are Georgia, Iowa, Oklahoma and Hawaii.

Escalation in Viet Nam Will Be Limited

50,000 Troops or Less to be Sent Under New Plan

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Contrary to speculation President Johnson has now decided to severely restrict escalation of the Viet Nam war with the prospect that the U.S. troop commitment may not even reach 300,000 by next fall.

This tentative Presidential decision is contrary to well informed predictions at the end

Novak Evans of the wholly unproductive bombing pause. It also is a far cry from the 400,000 to 500,000 U.S. troops that Army General have talked about privately.

The slow down on escalation reflects a basic change in the Presidential mood since January. The strong feeling then was that if the pause failed to produce negotiations, a major escalation came next. This would increase pressure on the enemy and enhance the prospect of negotiations.

50,000 More Troops

Under present plans Mr. Johnson now contemplates reinforcements of no more than 50,000 troops — perhaps considerably less — between now and October, on top of the 200,000 there now.

The basic change stems from the President's concern over runaway escalation. He confides to intimates that escalation is like inflation, once started it can skyrocket out of control. Behind the fear of too swift escalation is the deeper fear of deeper involvement of Communist China or Soviet Russia.

The President has said privately he believes Peking would intervene militarily if the U.S. lands troops north of the 17th parallel or destroys Ho Chi Minh's North Vietnamese regime by massive bombing. These steps were ruled out by the White House some time ago.

Even so Mr. Johnson remains apprehensive over Peking. He believes there is a basic irrationality in Chinese leaders. Consequently he fears the impact on Peking of rapid escalation.

As for the Russians, plans in the active talking stage in late January for possible mining of the harbor in Haiphong have now been all but discarded. Some Presidential advisers — but not the military — fear that if the Russians lost a vessel Moscow might retaliate. This could well take the form of a large gift of late-model MIG fighters for Ho Chi Minh.

Beyond this basic decision to retard the rate of escalation President Johnson is now ready to go to the East Room in a new and major effort to explain, define and defend his war policy in Viet Nam. The East Room of the White House is where he used to meet with politically potent groups of Americans to sell his policies.

For three months following his gallbladder operation last October however Mr. Johnson was all but immobilized as the leading administration spokesman on Viet Nam.

At Christmas time he ordered his top lieutenants — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara — to carry the load of defending the war before Congress. Rusk and McNamara and their chief assistants spend a total of 76 man-days before Congressional committees talking about Viet Nam during the first 47 days of the new session of Congress.

Now Mr. Johnson himself is taking over and it is high time.

The special Presidential touch is badly needed to halt growing doubts among the peace bloc of his own party. Except for ignoring one or two Senators regarded as pathological defeatists Mr. Johnson intends to cast his famous soft-sell spell over his Senate critics. But he has ruled out more concessions to the soft liners. The bombing pause, the peace offensive the United Nations — all these instead of satisfying the critics have whetted their appetite.

The White House does not regard its new intention to reduce escalation to the minimum as a concession. Yet it may fly in the face of increasing infiltration by Ho Chi Minh's legions. If these highly trained regulars start moving down the Ho Chi Minh Trail into South Viet Nam at the maximum rate of 4,500 monthly, Mr. Johnson will have to send additional troops at a rapid rate.

Lacking that however the Johnson war plan is now one of rigidly controlled limits on slowly growing U.S. involvement. Although it won't satisfy the hawks, the doves, or the generals, it's in the tradition of the LBJ middle way.

Chicken Pies Polenta

Tuna-Asparagus Bake

Neapolitan Casserole

Recipes for Potluck . . . Party . . . or Picnic

Lillian Mackesy POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR

The rule of thumb for the recipes today is that they fit into a "go everywhere" pattern, besides being delicious to the taste and appealing to the eye. There is really more than that. They also are easy to prepare and are foods as much at home on a picnic table as they are on a buffet, at a church or club potluck supper or just at home for family eating.

Take the Chicken Pies Polenta. . . this favorite American combination of chicken and corn borrows a bit from foreign kitchens to make a flavor point. Chili powder and olives furnish dramatic taste balanced by the smooth and full-bodied flavor of canned tomato sauce. The topping is interesting. . . made with a new twist. . . mayonnaise is added to packaged cornbread mix for a toasty-golden, baked-on crust.

Since this hearty entree already includes a green vegetable, only crisp relishes and fresh fruit with assorted cheeses are necessary to make a company meal complete.

Then there's the Neapolitan Casserole. . . a zesty tuna dish which teams with rice to make its point. This dish is lively with the flavors of tomatoes, mushrooms and herbs. It's mellow with Cheddar Cheese. With milk, salad, rolls and a beverage to match the weather, dinner is the table.

Another tuna dish just a bit different and yet not too much so is the Tuna and Asparagus Bake. This one is a fast and easy casserole that can be the answer to a busy homemaker's problems on a rush day. It takes only a few minutes to prepare. It tolerates latecomers to the family dinner table and bears up beautifully under toting away from home.

This baked dish is delicately flavored with asparagus layered in a mixture of ready-to-use cream of vegetable soup, tuna and grated cheese. Bright pieces of pimiento and parsley flakes add eye appeal and crushed potato chips provide a crunchy topping.

Then, for the perfect dessert, there are the party-pretty cupcakes baked in the new fluted foil baking cups which come in silver, gold, pastel pink and green. The recipe for these is in variation. Pineapple Coconut cakes and Chocolate Coconut. . . made with just a quick change in the basic recipe.

As a bonus. . . and an excellent one for the homemaker who enjoys being a hostess. . . one other recipe is included for making in the foil cups. French Colettes they're called. . . delightful chocolate or butterscotch confections molded in cup form. These fluted sweet shells are wonderful to hold ice cream alone or a combination ice cream fruit and whipped cream mixtures. Needless to say, they are delicious.

Convenience Foods Today Vie With Dairy Products for Shopper's Dollar

Walk through any well-stocked modern supermarket," he says. "Thousands of ready to serve, prepared specialty items vie for the shopper's attention and food industry — thousands of varied dollar. . . and convenient food products all competing for the shopper's dollar.

Can dairy products meet this challenge? Ken Weckel, University of Wisconsin dairy and food industry researcher, thinks they can. But outside of the home they find efforts to develop new dairy products and find new ways to use existing dairy products must be increased if competition is to be met, he believes.

Dairy products have not fared well in the competitive food market. Annual per capita dairy consumption dropped about 60 pounds during a 10 year period from 1953 to 1962. By 1968 present trends indicate the annual per capita consumption of dairy products will be down to 598 pounds — nearly 40 pounds below 1962 levels.

Weckel feels there are a number of important reasons for the falling annual per capita consumption of dairy products.

Reasons for Loss
Lower total food requirements for today's worker will explain some of the drop in dairy product use, but more important is the stiff competition from other food products.

"There was a day when dairy products were the most convenient, ready to serve food products on the grocer's shelves," Weckel reflects. "Dairy products toughest competition in those days was from meat, bread and potatoes."

Chicken Booyah Supper Scheduled

HORTONVILLE — A chicken booyah supper has been planned for 4 p.m. Sunday by the Christian Mothers Altar Society of St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church. The event, open to the public, will take place in the school hall.

some restaurants to de-emphasize dairy products on their menus.

Substitute dairy products also have cut into dairy sales, and more of these substitutes can be expected in the future.

Coupled with these factors is the present decline in delivery of dairy products to the home. Dairy product sales in the stores have been increasing while retail delivery sales are declining. With the drop in route sales, dairy products lose the advantage of personal sales promotion, thus being thrown into direct competition with other food products in grocery stores.

Developing new dairy products and incorporating dairy products into the new convenience foods are two of the best ways to increase or at least hold per capita dairy sales, Weckel points out.

Weckel cites the development of a butter sauce for use in canned vegetables as one way to take advantage of the growing convenience food market. This butter product is mixed with the vegetables before canning and saves the housewife time in preparing meals. Most important, she can't forget to add butter to the vegetables at cooking time.

Several million pounds of butter already have been marketed as a sauce in frozen vegetables.

Development of powdered butter is another raw product that should aid dairy sales. This product should find its main use in institutionalized food products, cake mixes and other dried convenience foods. Again this is an attempt to take advantage of the convenience food market.

Sterilized milk concentrate, a butter-like dairy spread, and low fat cheese are other attempts to develop new dairy products with consumer appeal. More product development work will be needed if the dairy industry expects to maintain its share of the food market. Weckel points out. Greater promotion of dairy products on a national basis also will help, he said.

Alfred Newbody Used to Say

"The finest nightclub in the midwest, offering the best in entertainment, could not possibly be built in Oshkosh, Wisconsin."

This is, perhaps, the first time that Alfred Newbody has been wrong. A nightclub has been built in Oshkosh. Entertainers from all over the world will appear on its stage. For example, appearing for the next two weeks is Tani Jones. Tani comes to Oshkosh from the Johnny Carson show and a Bob Hope TV special.

"1920 Speakeasy Street", the nightclub that Alfred Newbody said could not be built, asks that its customers wear proper dress and pay a three dollar minimum. Why shouldn't they?

Although the nightclub was built in Oshkosh, it's a Chicago nightclub not an Oshkosh nightclub.

Incidentally, Alfred, also appearing nights is Tony Patzer and for your dancing pleasure the Speakeasy Three featuring Cooke Smith on the piano. The nightclub is located on Highway 21 just west of 41 in Oshkosh. Closed Sundays.

Smoking Affects Unborn

Women who smoke during pregnancy can expect babies who are smaller, shorter, and weighing less than five pounds.

Large-scale studies in the United States and Great Britain have established that cigarette smoking during pregnancy will adversely affect the baby.

One of the largest smoking in pregnancy studies, reported by Drs. Lewis F. Savel and Edward Roth of Beth Israel Hospital, Newark, N.J., shows that women smoking more than a pack of cigarettes a day will deliver babies weighing an average of 13 ounces less than the average babies of non-smokers. Where the pregnant woman smoked less than a pack a day, the difference was almost halved. This effect manifested itself in the same woman who smoked in one pregnancy and did not in another.

The average baby weight from non-smokers was seven pounds seven ounces; for moderate smokers, it was seven pounds one ounce; and for heavy smokers, the average weight was six pounds ten ounces.

The Newark studies are supported by tests conducted on 274 mothers and infants at Aberdeen Scotland Maternity Hospital. There the children born to mothers who smoked were, on the average, 160 gram, almost 6 ounces, lighter than those of non-smokers.

Another study reported by Dr. John M. O'Lane of the U.S. Naval Hospital at San Diego links smoking to height as well as to weight. This study shows that babies of women who smoked in pregnancy averaged one-half an inch shorter than the infants of non-smokers.

Make Rag Dolls To be Washable

When making a rag doll, be sure that it will be entirely washable—both stuffing and cover—so dolls can be safely kissed, hugged, dragged, and taken lovingly to bed.

It takes a regular bath in soap or detergent suds to keep dolls as well groomed as her young mother, and even more important, a hygienic companion.

Delegates Named to DAR State Conclave

The Wisconsin Society Daughters of the American Revolution will have its 70th annual conference Monday through March 16 at the Pfister Hotel, Milwaukee.

Delegates from the Appleton chapter are Mrs. Harold Podzinski and Mrs. Virginia Nabbe. Attending from the Neenah-Menasha chapter will be Mrs. R.E. Cooper, Neenah; regent Mrs. H.A. Heller, Menasha; state chairman for American Heritage, Mrs. Leonard Gashel; Neenah alternate, and Mrs. Kenneth Campbell, Neenah, chairman of pages for the conference.

Honored guests, officers of the National Society, DAR, include Mrs. Albert Peters, Chicago, Ill., registrar general; Mrs. Henry S. Jones, Marsh-kee, Wis., treasurer-general; and Mrs. Erwin Seimes, Millsboro, Del., past first vice-regent general.

Unusual Sources and the Impossible Paper is the topic for Mrs. Peters at the Monday morning session for the Lineage Research Forum in the Milwaukee Convention Center.

When you head for such a machine, remember that only clean fabrics take dye successfully. In fact, a major manufacturer of dyeing equipment cautions you to start by laundering garments through a complete washer cycle — using hot soap or detergent suds — to remove stains and soil. Then place the clean articles in the dye machine while still wet.

Automatic dyeing machines that take the guesswork out of color changing are becoming available in many communities.

Richard W.E. Perrin, architect and director of City Development of Milwaukee, will present the address at the Tuesday evening banquet. His topic, Wisconsin Buildings, is his topic, and assisting will be Ralph E. Schacter, Mequon, architect.

Other sessions during the conference will include a state officers' club dinner Monday night, Children of the American Revolution breakfast Tuesday morning, Memorial Service Tuesday afternoon, a conference reception Tuesday evening, National Defense breakfast Wednesday morning, and a Good Gram with her will be Paul Citizen and History Awards luncheon Wednesday noon.

Reference Library Mrs. Peters will also appear at the Tuesday membership luncheon at the Pfister Hotel where she will talk on "The Life of an Application Paper."

Marks 75 Years

The past 75 years of DAR history will be reviewed by Mrs. Seimes.

Amv, Vanderbilt, American Foremost, etiquette authority, advises that certain foods—such as celery, asparagus, bacon, and artichokes—are properly eaten with the fingers. Naturally, these and other finger foods require scrupulously clean hands.

New Dust Pan

A flexible plastic dust pan with squeeze handle can be folded up the middle. This makes it easy to fit against corners for a cleaner sweep and to empty without spilling.

Designed in beige, blue, or green with high sides and Revolution breakfast shields to keep dirt from slipping out, this dust pan can be suds sponged or immersed in hot soap or detergent suds after use.

A Spanish omelet called Tortilla Espanol is made with thinly sliced potato and sometimes with onion Here the omelet is being turned out of the fry pan, all ready as the mainstay of the family meal Popular throughout Spain in variation this is a dish so old in origin that its source is unknown

Potatoes in Spanish Omelet

BY MATILDE DE MOYA

MADRID (AP) — One of Spain's favorite and most widely used dishes — the real Spanish omelet — bears no resemblance to the highly spiced egg dish that in the western hemisphere is served under that name

Properly speaking the Spanish version is a simple potato omelet — called a "tortilla espanol" in this country — that over the centuries has been a staple of Spanish family meals both urban and country

The source of this tasty dish, a favorite in many areas of Spain has been lost in history But early Spanish warriors feasted on Spanish omelet around their campfires or carried pieces of cold omelet in their knapsacks for a quick noonday meal

Often Main Dish

In modern Spain this sturdy omelet is often the hot main course of a simple luncheon or supper In recent years the cold omelet cubed and inserted on only toothpicks for easy handling, has been a regular with cocktail tails or wine

There are regional variations of this favorite dish as there are of most Spanish dishes But by and large it follows the simple recipe with the big omelet fry the onion at the same time choice of onions or no onions Friends tell me that the omelet shows up regularly in the hunt-lunch basket of Gen Francisco Franco the Spanish chief of state

SPANISH OMELET (TORTILLA ESPANOL)

- 3 small potatoes
- 1 onion, if desired
- 4 eggs
- 4 tablespoons Olive oil
- Salt

Peel and thinly slice the potatoes If the onion is used peel and thinly slice it too

In a little olive oil in a fry pan slowly fry the potato until soft If you and your family favor the onion variety of

Read All Labels Before Washing

While many new woollens and wool blends are described as "washable" by fabric houses and stores not all can be washed by the same method Read labels carefully because some specify "Handwashable omelet cubed and inserted on only" while others say "Completely washable" or "Machine washable"

One basic rule in laundering wools or wool blends is to use lukewarm soap or detergent suds and rinse water Another is to avoid rubbing and agitation

Doctor Warns Against Hitting Child on Head

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. with a sharp rap on the top of the head — even babies a step removed from the extreme battering that we read about in the papers, but it is just hearing more about such a dangerous thing to do. Such a blow can cause an actual concussion and brain damage. It can damage hearing and eyesight. It is not impossible for such a whack to damage the neck bones. It is both cruel and dangerous.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband and I have a baby and would like to have more, but we can't afford one every year. We both disapprove of artificial methods of birth control. Would you explain how we could practice rhythm? —Mrs. J.T.

The way history is taught in school today, it's almost as fresh as yesterday's front page. If you had kept a file of the paper for last year and the year before that, your youngster would have a head start towards honors in current events.

Parents who lash out at children in such fashion are usually immature and unstable while it works to some extent, themselves; sometimes, indeed, is not as certain as other methods. The rhythm method depends entirely on avoiding sexual relations at or close to the time an ovum has been released by the ovary.

The difficulty is that while this usually occurs at approximately mid-cycle (12th to 16th day), it can vary — just as the length of the cycle can vary.

My suggestion is that you ask your doctor to help. He knows your views, and knows the pattern of your cycle. While he cannot guarantee perfect results, he can help work out a pattern that will fit you more reliably than you can do alone, or with the help of anything I might write.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a girl 10. My father has asthma. He is allergic to hair and feathers. When he gets near animals he has to have a shot before he can breathe. I would very much like a pet but I do not want my father to do to help rid yourself of ulcers be sick. Would you name some and stay rid of them? For animals I could have? The only answers, read Dr. Molner's thing my mother can think of is helpful booklet, "How to Heal turtles, but I don't like them. Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Post-Crescent, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope belong in a household where and 20 cents in coin to cover someone has asthma. As for cost of printing and handling, text.

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers be sick. Would you name some and stay rid of them? For animals I could have? You have good reason to worry. There appears to be an increase in the number of so-called "battered children" — those who are brutally beaten to the point of needing hospitalization. Some of these children die. Whether the practice is more common, or whether we are about in the papers, but it is just hearing more about such a dangerous thing to do. Such a blow can cause an actual concussion and brain damage. It can damage hearing and eyesight.

Austrian Concert Artists

Organ Group to Play Handel, Bach Program

The widely heralded Wolfgang von Karajan Organ Ensemble, a trio of Austrian concert artists, will bring its program of Handel and Bach concerti, and music of Mozart and Austrian Romanticist, Franz Schmidt to Appleton on Thursday. The ensemble will perform at 8 p.m. in Lawrence University's Memorial Chapel under auspices of the University and the Northeastern Wisconsin chapter American Guild of Organists.

Wolfgang von Karajan, his wife, Hedy, and Wolfgang Wunsch play upon three Baroque pipe organs patterned after instruments in use during Bach's lifetime in the early 18th century.

Their unique program gained nationwide attention in an extensive feature story in Time Magazine early this year. The news magazine described a von Karajan concert as leaving audiences aglow with delight and thundering applause.

New Yorker critic, Winthrop Sargeant, in a Feb. 12 review said the ensemble was "absorbing, to say the least." He wrote: "During the whole program the effect was not only of exceptional clarity but of considerable gaiety."

I found it all quite delightful.

The Schmidt pieces include chorale preludes which stand in marked contrast to the Bach works which preceded them by some two centuries and a perpetually moving toccata, or touch piece. The composer was born in 1874 and was for 12 years director of the Vienna Music Academy.

Tickets for the von Karajan Organ Ensemble are on sale at the Lawrence University Box Office, Music Drama Center, 115 N. Park Ave.

Broken down, the treasurer collected $892,916 in real estate taxes, $30,293 in personal property taxes, $13,221 in special assessments and $90,232 in state tax credit.

Postponed real estate taxes amounted to $16,368, delinquent real estate amounted to $5,505, delinquent special assessments amounted to $269 and delinquent personal property tax amounted to $51 for a total remaining on the tax roll of $22,196.

Leading the cast of this professional group are veteran Hollywood Broadway actor Howland Chamberlain as Jacques, Alison Howard as Rosalind and Lennard DeCarl as Orlando.

As Hamlet and Macbeth represent Shakespeare at his high points in tragedy, so does "As You Like It" represent him as the master of comedy.

In three years the New York based troupe has eclipsed the record of the now inactive Walter Hampden Co. as the most widely traveled Shakespearean company ever to tour the United States.

Organized in 1962 with a 4 week itinerary mainly concentrated in the New York Metropolitan area, the company now has logged more than 20,000 miles in an extensive 32 week trek throughout the east and midwest. The itinerary of the current company has expanded to a coast to coast 36 week junket with appearances in more than 30 states.

Tickets are now on sale at Look Drug Stores and Dramatics Club member. Telephone reservation will be accepted 15 days before the production. The Club does not intend to make money on the project but is interested in bringing a quality production of a culturally dramatic piece of literature to the Fox Valley.

Cut Glass Bowl, Lace Cloth Once Necessity

By BAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The greatest treasure chest is memory.

Things in a hope chest mellow and fade with the passing years. But time increases the value of the contents of memory's treasure chest. What remains is tested and true, and shines in the recollecting heart like purest gold. And you've stored up a lot of school graduating class usually blackboards.

Only the well-do-to kept gold fish.

Inflation Problem

You first became aware of the problem of inflation when the local movie house jumped its price from a dime to 15 cents. In grammar school kids still carried their own small slates to class because many one-room schoolhouses didn't have the old tin lined kitchen icebox glasses up to the window light to be sure they were quite clear.

End of Line
The most doleful fate in the world was to turn out to be the last child in kindergarten. By then the chicken pox. By then the mumps or the measles. You never tired of watching the ceremony grandpa made out of cleaning his spectacles. He could blow his breath on each lens, polish them vigorously with his handkerchief, hold the chairs up to the window light to be sure they were quite clear.

No False Teeth
Half the old men with false teeth refused to wear them except when they went to church or attended a funeral. Every ice cream and sweets shop in the land had marble topped tables and wire back chairs. Nothing annoyed a young fellow more than a quarter.

Well now that's better. As if he had done a hard day's work low more when he was taking his girl out for a ride than to have the horse throw a shoe. People were more afraid of tuberculosis than of cancer. The dudes who hung around the barber-shop on Saturday night always wore white buck shoes in summer and snapped their bow ties whenever a pretty girl went by. You could go through life without ever meeting anyone who had ever been to Korea or Viet Nam. Those were the good old days!

Guess Who The Boss Is At Your A&P

It's you!
Think about it. It makes sense.
All of us from the President on down work for you.
Frankly, where would we be without you and the many people like you?
We know. We'd still be in that little store on Vesey Street where we started more than 100 years ago.
That's why you're important. That's why we care so much about how we serve you . . . about being fair, honest and dependable.
Is this kind of attitude a good reason for shopping A&P?
It's one of many.

Manitowoc '5' Tops Mishicot At Kaukauna

Ships Win, 50-45, On 7 Free Shots In the Final 2:45

KAUKAUNA — Mishicot is for real... almost.

The Indians romped into the Kaukauna sub-sectional tournament Tuesday night wearing the Peninsula Conference crown, the Valdres regional crest and boasting an overall 17-3 record.

But the Manitowoc Shipbuilders, bent on meeting Green Bay West for the third time this season, downed the scrappy Indians, 50-45, by running seven of eight free throws in the last two minutes of the frenzied contest.

The Ships thus take their sub-sectional crown and move on to the west sectional wars Friday night to battle the Clintonville Truckers.

With 2:45 left in the game and the score tied 43-43 for the 12th time, the Ships dropped in seven gift tosses, five by Steve Check, while holding the Indians to a lone bucket by Marv Fleck.

The Indians twice fought back from 5-point deficits to tie the score, led only once, 3-2, and never were able to mount any scoring drives against the Ships' shifting zone and man-to-man press.

But the Ships also had trouble getting away from the dock, and once in open waters couldn't hoist enough sail to pull

Truckers Down Phantom '5'

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — The Clintonville High School Truckers scrapped to an exciting, 64-63 win over favored West De Pere in the Green Bay Southwest sub-sectional basketball game at Franklin Junior High School Tuesday night.

The Phantoms were ahead all the way except for about 50 seconds, the opening moments when the Truckers snatched a 2-0 lead and the last 45 seconds when a set of free throws by Clintonville's Pete Korb swung the scoring pendulum in his club's favor.

Although West De Pere did manage to cling to a sometimes precarious advantage throughout, the Truckers continually peeked away at the deficit.

When it was all over, you'd have thought the Truckers had swept the state title. Five busloads of students poured onto the floor and hoisted their favorites, along with Coach Carl Bruggink, to their shoulders and carried them from the floor.

Clintonville now faces Manitowoc in the first game of the sectional at the Arena Friday night.

Outstanding clutch performances were turned in by the Clints' Pete Korb, Mike Pasch, and Don Kirchner in the final quarter.

Lead By Five

After the Phantoms' Dwight Anderson had forged his mates to a 55-50 spread with less than three minutes left, the West De Pere five could smell the sweetness of victory.

But the Clints plugged things up in a hurry as Pasch rifled in a jumper that was matched by another Anderson 2-pointer before Korb plunked a long one and Kirchner canned a brace of charities to creep to within 57-58 with 1:57 left.

Bob Gerrits gave the Phantoms a 3-point cushion with a pair of gifters with 1:51 remaining, but Pasch hit a jumper from the side to narrow the score at 59-58 with 1:35 to go.

Connie Umms, a hero even in defeat, popped in a layup to make it 61-58 with 1:17 left. Pasch again hit for two points and the Clints trailed, 61-60.

with 1:08 remaining. Now it was Korb's turn to shine. With 45 seconds to go, he calmly swished two free ones to push his team into the lead, 62-61. After the Phantoms threw the ball away, Korb was again fouled with just 12 seconds left.

Again he came through. Meshing both charities to give the Clints a 64-61 lead. That was more than enough to offset a last-second basket by Umms.

Morenz Named Badgers' MVP

Gustafson, Zubor Picked as Honorary Senior Co-Captains

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin basketball team named a substitute, Paul Morenz, as its most valuable player.

Morenz, who came to Wisconsin four years ago on a football scholarship, scored the winning points in three of the 11 Badger victories.

The six-foot senior from McHenry, Ill., provided one-point margins over Marquette and Iowa with final moment free throws, and iced the Badgers' defeat of Purdue with a 20-foot shot with 11 seconds left.

Morenz' last second heroics were not entirely new this season. During his junior year the guard hit a field goal against Boston College to give Wisconsin a one-point triumph.

Named as honorary season co-captains were seniors Ken Gustafson and Mark Zubor. Mike Carlin won the free throw award with an accuracy record of 77 per cent, and Joe Franklin received a trophy for leading the team in rebounds with 235. Carlin and Franklin are sophomores.

Game Unit Retreats From Plan for Early Northwest Deer Hunt

Eastern Counties May Have 2 Days Of Doe Shooting

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The Wisconsin conservation commission Tuesday backed away from a plan of its game division to permit an extra week of deer hunting in the far northwestern district of the state as a means to encourage hunters to penetrate the remote forests there to reduce the deer herd in a traditional starvation belt.

The commission voted to delete the plan from the fish and game questionnaire on 1966 and 1967 hunting and fishing seasons that will be submitted to county meetings of the Wisconsin Conservation Congress for review on April 11.

The apparent desire of the commission, after a so-called "compromise" with the executive council of the Congress, is to continue the basic deer season format of recent years, with a 9-day state-wide buck shoot, more liberal seasons in the eastern and southern agricultural zones including some doe shooting, and a permit and quota system calling for a potential kill of about 46,000 pike.

The project will embrace about 9,000 acres of forest land and include about five miles of desirable stream frontage, it was said.

The fish rule proposals to be submitted to the county advisory meetings in April by the commission show few important changes from the regulations with which the fishermen are now familiar. Most of the questions raised relate to local problems and proposals. One suggested change that may bring a response from trout fishermen is a plan to defer the trout season opening hour from midnight to five a.m.

Neenah, Winneconne Win To Gain Sectional Berths

Rockets Tip Hortonville Quint, 79-52

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MENASHA — Turning on its firepower in the second half, Neenah High School rocked Hortonville, 79-52, in the Menasha sub-sectional Tuesday night, thus earning a berth in the WIAA sectional basketball meet at Oshkosh Friday and Saturday.

Coach Doug Martin's rockets, who boosted their record to 14-7, will face Rio, conqueror of Waterloo, 66-57, in their sectional debut Friday.

The Mid-Eastern Conference entry had too many guns for the Polar Bears and began to pull away with about two minutes gone in the third period.

The losers had remained within hailing distance in the first two quarters and scored six of the first eight points of the third to slice the 34-24 halftime advantage to six.

However, the Rockets put together a chain of eight points from the free throw line where Larry Handler's drive-in and free throw, a gift by Jim Koepke and fielders off the fast break by Gary Losse and Jim Felters, lengthening the spread to 14 points.

Later in the period the Little Nine Conference representative got the margin down to 10, but the winners banged in the last eight points of the quarter and added the first four of the last frame for a 56-35 margin.

Hortonville flurried for six points, but the Twin Citizens chalked up a strand of 12 and shortly reserves began to take over.

The Polar Bears had held 2-0, 3-0 and 3-2 leads in the initial segment and the score was tied 11-11 and 13-13.

The Rockets took a 15-13 edge into the second frame, saw the score tied on Chuck Mulroy's two free throws but a Koepke basket off the fast break ignited a chain of seven points.

As has been the case most of the season, the Rockets came up with a well-balanced attack, led by Handler's 16 points on five baskets and six free throws.

Losse, saddled with four fouls in the third period, was runner-up with 15 and Koepke added 13. Close to the double figures were Dan Jankowski with nine, Pete Neubauer eight and Felters seven.

Hortonville's Bruce Kluge led all scorers with 17 points on five baskets and seven free throws. Three first half fouls and another early in the third stanza limited his playing time. Mulroy was next with 12 points.

Both teams spent considerable time at the free throw line since the officials blew 41 fouls. The Rockets made 21 of 32 gifts and Hortonville 16 of 26. Neenah had a 29-18 field goal edge.

Manawa '5' Whips Marinette, Earns Spot in Sectional

PULASKI — The Manawa Bay West in the second game at High School Wolves jumped off the Brown County Veterans to an early lead and never relinquished control as they whipped, Marinette, 69-56, here Tuesday night and earned a trip against one loss.

The margin of victory came from the free throw line where Manawa swished 25 of 31 gift tosses. In basket totals, the Marines rimmed 23 to Manawa's 22.

Manawa will now face Green Bay West in the sectional.

Foul Trouble Hurts Thunderbirds in 78-76 Setback

WABENO — Wausaukee's Rangers took advantage of Iola-Scandinavia foul trouble in the fourth quarter to capture a 78-76 sub-sectional playoff victory here Tuesday night and barge into the Wausau sectional this weekend.

The Rangers, who will meet favored Wausau in their first sectional game Friday night, trailed by a single point midway in the final period but took command when Iola's top rebounder, Jim Netzel, fouled out. They shot ahead by five points with one minute to go and then gave the Thunderbirds several consolation points while avoiding fouls of their own.

Dave Busick led the Wausaukee charge with 28 points, 17 of them in the second half as the Rangers built their biggest advantage of the game, seven points, before Iola rallied for its temporary lead. The M-O Conference champions' Ed Pociask added 21. George Gjertson led all scorers by hooping 33 for the losers.

All-Kentucky Title Tilt Could be Possible in Mid-Eastern Regional

By TED MEIER Associated Press Sports Writer

The battle of Kentucky is shaping up for Iowa.

That is to say the University of Kentucky Wildcats, the top-ranked team in The Associated Press college basketball poll, will meet the Western Kentucky Hilltoppers in the Mid-East regional final of the NCAA championship tourney at Iowa City, Iowa, Saturday night if all goes well.

There are just two obstacles. The Wildcats, 24-1, have to defeat Dayton, 23-4, and the Hilltoppers, 24-2, have to overcome Michigan, 17-7, in Friday's doubleheader at Iowa City.

The Hilltoppers, who crushed Chicago Loyola 106-86 at Kent, Ohio, Tuesday in a first-round NCAA game, would like nothing better than to meet Kentucky's Southeastern Conference champions.

Coach John Oldham and his players have felt slighted all season because Coach Adolph Rupp and his UK team took the headlines with a 23-game winning streak.

Lost Only Twice
"We've lost only two games, but hardly anyone seems to have heard of us," Oldham said recently.

Chisox' Wilhelm Suffers Fracture Of Ring Finger

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Hoyt Wilhelm, 42-year-old star reliever, suffered a fracture of the ring finger on his pitching hand in a Chicago White Sox batting drill Tuesday.

A cast was placed on the finger, struck by a pitched ball while Wilhelm was in the batting cage. The veteran right-hander will be sidelined about 10 days.

The mishap occurred before an intrasquad game in which a five-run rally in the sixth and final inning gave the Gutteridge a 5-4 victory over the Cucinellos.

A pop single by first baseman Dennis Lundgren, former Northwestern University star, scored Tommy McCraw and broke a 4-4 tie. The rally also included a double by Gerry McEwen and a triple by McCraw.

Other tentatively advanced modifications of the hunting rules for 1966 would expand the early bear season into additional districts, and permit an early September teal season.

The game division said it has not yet made up its mind on the teal proposal, but noted that a year ago this state elected against participation in an experimental teal shoot as proposed by the federal government, preferring to study the results of the hunt in other states of the Mississippi flyway. Reports from the other states have generally been favorable.

The game division had hoped to win commission backing for a rule to prohibit all game shooting within 100 feet of an automobile under all conditions, but the commission deleted that suggestion from the Congress questionnaire also.

Osteopaths' Work On Back Helped, Colts' Berry Says

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — End Raymond Berry of the Baltimore Colts said Tuesday "there is no doubt in my mind I would not have played football if it hadn't been for osteopaths' treating his back."

The 11-year pass catching veteran of the National Football League testified before a committee of the Maryland Legislature on a bill which would permit osteopaths to practice general medicine and surgery in Maryland.

"I am completely dependent on osteopaths," Berry told the House Ways & Means Committee, many of them fans of the Colts.

County Tried to Improve Conditions

Claim Braves Rejected Stadium Pact

By HARRY CHANDLER

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The State of Wisconsin continued its frontal assault today on the claim of baseball attorneys that the Braves' decision to move to Atlanta was influenced by dissatisfaction with local conditions.

Two top Milwaukee County officials, testifying Tuesday in the state's antitrust suit against the Braves and the National League, said that repeated offers to rewrite the stadium rental contract to delete any unsatisfactory provisions.

And, they said, offers were made to impose curbs on ticket selling by private individuals around the stadium concourse and the carrying in of beer by fans for consumption on the premises.

But Braves' officials dismissed the offers as unnecessary and denied any commitment to move the franchise, said the witnesses.

Triggered Suit

Three months later, it was testified, Braves' directors sought and obtained league approval to switch the club to Atlanta, triggering the antitrust suit now being tried before circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller.

County Executive John Doyle, Milwaukee County's top elected official, quoted William Bartholomay, the Braves' board chairman, and President John McHale as saying in midsummer of 1964 that the club's contract for County Stadium was satisfactory.

"They assured me they had not made up their minds about moving," Doyle said. "They said they planned to re-evaluate their position at the end of the season, and I would be first to an intrasquad game in which a five-run rally in the sixth and final inning gave the Gutteridge a 5-4 victory over the Cucinellos."

A pop single by first baseman Dennis Lundgren, former Northwestern University star, scored Tommy McCraw and broke a 4-4 tie. The rally also included a double by Gerry McEwen and a triple by McCraw.

comment that he would be interested in a three-year contract at the most and preferred a one-year term.

The state, through Anderson, sought to disprove the claim of Braves' officials that local politicians, notably County Board Chairman Eugene H. Grobschmidt were antagonistic and guilty of frequent harassment of the club.

Grobschmidt was an outspoken critic of the Chicago group that bought the Braves in 1962, and also was quoted as saying the Braves were not playing up to their potential.

Refused to Meet
Bartholomay once refused in 1964 to meet with the Sports Committee of the County Board because Grobschmidt was a member, Anderson said. Bartholomay told him he thought Grobschmidt owed manager Bobby Bragan and his players an apology for implying they were not giving their best.

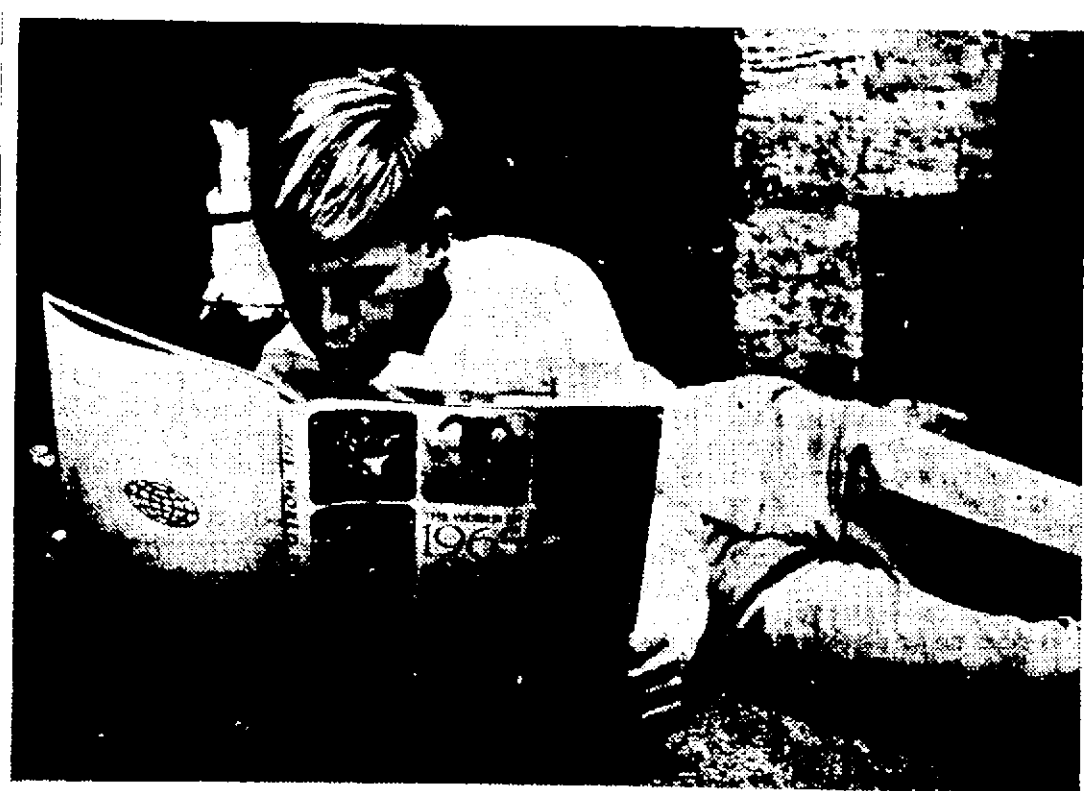

Anderson said he arranged a meeting at which Grobschmidt apologized to Bragan and members of the club. Bragan accepted the apology and relayed it to his players. But Grobschmidt continued to toss barbs in 1965 when the Braves, under court order, played out their contract in Milwaukee.

Bartholomay met with the Board's Sports Committee and several members of the Parking Commission after the 1964 incident, Anderson said. Bartholomay again expressed satisfaction with the existing contract with the County, he said, and expressed the hope that the club's next event will be the Le Mans Winter Rallye March 19-20.

No. 8 Winneconne (19-2) became the fourth small-school survivor, by beating Green Lake 72-43.

Clintonville plays at Green Bay Friday night against 1963 titlist Mantowoc (15-6) the most recent champion still in the running. Mantowoc shook off Muskego (17-4) with four free throws in the final minute for a 50-45 decision.

Wausau (15-7), the 1960 winner, held Park Falls to just eight points in the second half and only one in the fourth period in a 61-34 victory at Rhinelander.

In the only overtime of the evening Wauwatosa West (15-7) clipped West Bend 82-76 behind 29 points by Terry Hays, who blocked a Badger shot beneath the basket that would have won the game with two seconds left in regulation play.

It takes more people to publish today's newspapers

*Any growing business needs more people...
Newspapers are one of the fastest growing businesses in the U. S. today!*

An average of 20,000 men and women now enter America's burgeoning labor force each week. From 1947 through 1963 the nation's economy absorbed 11 million additional workers. Total employment increased 19% in 16 years.

During the same years employment in the daily newspaper business increased by 33% ... to more than 329,000. By comparison, employment in all manufacturing industries rose by 9%, in retail and wholesale trade, 29%. Employment in the transportation industries dropped by 5% and in mining by 33%.

Increase in staff is but one reflection of the overall growth of daily newspapers since the end of World War Two. This growth is also reflected by marked increases in every other significant index — circulation, news content, advertising, newsprint consumption... and all are still growing.

Newspapers are growing for one reason: Only the newspaper covers the news fully and in depth. There is no substitute for the daily newspaper.

For more information on why daily newspapers are a growth business, write for a free copy of the new booklet, "The Growth of the American Daily Newspaper," an economic analysis published by the University of Wisconsin.

Feminine Angle

"The Girl from U N C L E " — Obviously a spinoff on The Man from U N C L E " this girl loaded series will star Stephanie Powers NBC claims Robert Vaughn and David McCallum will appear occasionally but Vaughn has said no

"Occasional Wife" — Comedy about a young bachelor executive in the unusual position of needing a wife to succeed in business

"Star Trek" — This space show will utilize the works of Jules Verne H.G. Wells and Aldous Huxley

Buckley, Mitchell To Vie for Appleton Mayorality April 5

Challenger Outpolls Incumbent
4,771-4,321 in 4-Way Primary

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Continuing where he left off two years ago, attorney George Buckley posted an upset victory in Tuesday's primary to become the No. 1 contender for Mayor Clarence Mitchell's job in the April 5 general election.

The official vote tabulations in the four way contest for the top elective position in Appleton's city government, which will pay $14,000 a year as of May 1, were:

—Buckley, 2204 N. Viola St., 4,771.

—Mitchell, 312 W. Lindbergh St., 4,321.

—Robert Maves, 1903 E. Glendale, 3,261.

—Ronald Steward, 412 W. Commercial St., 111.

Both Maves and Steward were eliminated from further contention.

Mitchell and Buckley made post-election statements in which they urged continued support in the April 5th runoff.

Buckley was more than pleased with his strong showing.

Nominated in other Appleton city-wide elections are:

For city clerk: Elden Broehm, incumbent, and Mrs. Dorothy Stillings, a former alderman.

For city attorney: George Greisch and David Geenen.

For city assessor: John A. Pierre, incumbent, and Cornelius Crowe.

which makes Mitchell an underdog for the first time since he defeated Robert Roemer and took over the mayor's reins in April, 1958.

Mitchell, an alderman and supervisor before being elected mayor, said he was not disappointed finishing runnerup and is mapping an intensive campaign.

"Although I haven't had time to analyze the balloting in the various wards, I would say that I am happy with the vote," Mitchell said Tuesday night.

Trend Not Final

Mitchell said the 450-vote difference did not show a final trend.

Sen. Aiken Sees More Support For LBJ Policy

Says President's
Effort to Avoid
Escalation Helped

WASHINGTON (AP) — The

Senate's senior Republican said today President Johnson's efforts to avoid escalation of the Viet Nam war have led critical senators to give him "more support than we did some time ago."

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said in an interview he wanted to give Johnson credit for his repeated attempts to avoid any reckless expansion of the war.

Aiken was among those who joined with Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield last

January in warning of the dangers of a massive Southeast

Asian war.

More Support

"I think we are giving the President more support than we did some time ago," he said.

"He seems to be keeping our military efforts within bounds."

A similar but more guarded view was voiced by another critic of Johnson's Viet Nam policies, Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn.

In a separate interview, Gore said he is giving "uneasy" support to the President's present course.

"I hope and believe that the President's course is now one of prudence and caution," Gore said. "It keeps one nervous, however, to realize that every act of escalation has been taken only after bland assurances

France Says Reform Of NATO Impossible

This Is An Architect's drawing of the plaques and marker which will be built near the site of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas. The bronze plaques, to be mounted on marble pillars, and the marker will cost $16,000. Specifications for the marker were approved Tuesday by the Dallas park board. The site has been seen by thousands of visitors. (AP Wirephoto)

Continue With Plans To Get Out

PARIS (AP) — France said

today that reform of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is impossible and that President

Charles de Gaulle's government is going ahead with plans to get out.

But the government expressed a willingness to talk over other mutual defense arrangements with the NATO allies.

A spokesman said after the weekly Cabinet meeting that France intends to take whatever measures she deems necessary concerning foreign military bases on French soil. He added that France is willing to discuss the consequences of such a move.

Stiffer Attitude

The statement outlining the French position was read to newsmen by Yvon Bourges, secretary of state for information.

It seemed almost certain that the statement had been dictated by De Gaulle himself.

The announcement seemed to represent a further stiffening of the French attitude. For several years, De Gaulle has been insisting that NATO must be revised.

The measures which France intends to take unilaterally,

Bourges said, concern French troops in NATO commands,

French officers in the headquarters, and the foreign bases on French soil.

Useful Discussions

"The French government is willing to take up any useful discussions with Allied governments concerning practical consequences of the measures that it proposes to take, and of the arrangements for common actions that should be foreseen in case of conflict," Bourges said.

He recalled De Gaulle's letter

Morlay to President Johnson and disclosed that similar letters would be sent today to other Allied chiefs of government who are principally interested, presumably Britain, Canada and West Germany.

Earlier the U.S. ambassador to NATO, Harlan Cleveland, told

NATO members that De

Gaulle's demand for French command of U.S. troops in France concerns not only the United States but the entire alliance.

Port Adviser Reiterates Earlier Remark

FAA Official Denies He Criticized Senator In Talk With Foth

BY DAVE NOWAK
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A consultant for Brown County's Austin Straubel Field reiterated his claim that a Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) official told him that as long as Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) is in the U. S. Senate, "there won't be any money" for airport construction in Wisconsin.

In Washington, Cole Morrow, chief of airport service for FAA, denied he ever made the remark.

Herbert Foth, engineering consultant, Green Bay, told The Post-Crescent Tuesday Morrow "did say that" in a conversation with him Sept. 25, 1964, in Washington, D. C.

No Bearing

Proxmire said Monday the FAA had assured him in a letter that his criticism of the FAA "has no bearing on allocations of federal aid to airport funds for the State of Wisconsin."

Edward C. Marsh, director of the 12-state central region of the FAA, said at Green Bay Monday that "Our director (William F. McKee, head of the FAA) was upset by Sen. Proxmire's statement concerning a purported statement by an FAA official that Wisconsin would receive no aid as long as Proxmire was a senator."

Foth first mentioned the alleged remark by Morrow at a Feb. 25 meeting of the State Aeronautics Commission in Oshkosh.

Fewer Allocations

At the Oshkosh meeting, several airport officials said Proxmire's criticism of the FAA has resulted in fewer allocations of FAA funds for Wisconsin.

In a letter to Proxmire answering his queries about the matter, D. D. Thomas, FAA deputy administrator said:

"No Such Statement"

"I have discussed this matter with Mr. Cole Morrow, director of the office of airports. Mr. Morrow informs me that he made no such statement or anything like it."

Right to Criticize

Thomas told Proxmire in the letter "We respect your right to criticize agency policies."

Proxmire Knows More

Foth said Proxmire "knows quite a bit more about what Morrow said to me" since Foth talked to Proxmire after his conversation with Morrow. He said that "Proxmire also has a letter from me regarding the matter."

The Post-Crescent also learned that Foth, Robert J. Smith, director of Austin Straubel Field, and Thomas K. Jordan, director of the State Aeronautics Commission, met with Edward March, FAA regional administrator from Kansas City, for five hours Monday to discuss the matter.

Foth said Marsh told the group Morrow has denied making the alleged remarks and that the last time Morrow saw Foth was in 1963.

Asked if Marsh told the group not to discuss the Proxmire-FAA controversy any further, Smith replied that there were "absolutely no threats or anything else of that sort."

Asked the same question, Foth remarked, "It is in the best interests of Wisconsin not to say anything else. I can't tell you why."

Disorderly Conduct Hearings Set March 14

OSHKOSH — County Judge James V. Sitter set further proceedings for March 14 and Heinke, through his attorney, set bond at $50 each for Roosevelt M. Peterson, 65, route 1, Larsen, and Harold R. Peterson, 35, route 1, Larsen. The elder Peterson was charged with disorderly conduct and drunkenness and the younger Peterson with disorderly conduct after an incident at a Town of Oshkosh home on Saturday.

Outagamie Board Approves Home Nursing Care Funds

Supervisors Also Okay Bids for Construction of Two Port Hangars

In its last session with the 55-man membership, the Outagamie County Board Tuesday morning passed resolutions dealing with home nursing care and airport hangar construction, but delayed action on a resolution which spells out county employee overtime payment policies. The nursing care plan passed by a 32-0 vote.

The board approved a $1,500 appropriation for a new home nursing care fund and decided to participate in the Medicare Act's home nursing care provisions.

Mrs. Marion Freemore, Outagamie County nurse, explained that the program would provide services "similar to what the Visiting Nurse's Association provides for residents of the City of Appleton." She said that present county laws only allow the county nurse to go into homes and give demonstrations of nursing techniques to friends or relatives of invalids.

Supervised Care
"Under the new program," she said, "the county would utilize registered and practical nurses on a part-time basis who would visit homes to provide various nursing care and rehabilitation services. All of this care," she said, "would be supervised by family doctors." She said this program, if implemented, would allow many people to be discharged from hospitals sooner because of nursing care available at home. She said for persons over 65 the complete cost would be paid by the Medicare provisions of the Social Security Act. "However," she added, "this service also should be available to all county residents, even if they are under 65 years old."

Fee Schedule
Mrs. Freemore explained that the State Board of Health has suggested a fee schedule for persons less than 65 years old. The recommended cost is $3 for the first hour and $2 for each additional hour. The home care nursing fund would provide for persons unable to afford the service.

On a 49-0 vote, supervisors approved an airport committee resolution which authorizes construction of two new "key-hangars" at the Outagamie County Airport.

One of the units would house 10 single-engine aircraft, and the other would provide for six twin engine planes.

Total cost of the project will be $91,575. The low bidders are Keller Structures, Inc. ($85,215) for the general construction and Stevenson Electric Co. ($3,590) for electrical contracting.

New Phase

Supv. Mark Catlin Jr. (Appleton 7) airport committee chairman, explained that "This is a start on another phase of our overall airport master plan, which is to provide cover for planes based at the airport."

Catlin explained that the hangars will be rented to airplane owners to amortize the cost. With minimum rentals, he said, the total principal and interest will be paid within 20 years.

For Private Planes

He stressed the hangars would be for private aircraft only.

The hangars will be built on the asphalt ramp which is located south of the present hangar and administration building.

On a motion of Supv. Norman Beyer (Appleton 20) the board deferred action on an executive committee resolution which would have amended the county civil service ordinance dealing with compensatory and overtime wages.

The resolution called for payment in cash for overtime hours at the authorization of department heads for all employees grade 12 and below. Time and a half would be paid for Sunday and holiday overtime. The maximum accumulation of overtime is three days with the employee to be given compensatory time off if his overtime exceeds three days.

Within 30 Days

The resolution specified that the three days must be given within 30 days of when the overtime is accumulated.

Supv. Marvin Babbitt (Seymour 2) explained that the intention of the measure was to authorize department heads to assign overtime whenever it is considered necessary but to have county board committee approval as part of the resolution so that the board would have a record of how much overtime is being authorized.

The resolution was referred back to the executive committee on Beyer's motion so the committee could consult with department heads to see if the proposed changes meet with their approval.

Neighborhood House Director to Speak At St. James Church

Rev. Lucius Walker, director of the Northcott Neighborhood House, Milwaukee, will speak at the Lenten service at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at St. James Methodist Church. Rev. James L. Vahey, pastor, announced.

Purpose of Northcott House, to be outlined by the Rev. Walker, is to carry out a relevant program with interracial groups in Milwaukee.

Last summer St. James Congregation participated in a program whereby Negro children came to live for a week with parish families.

The Thursday program is sponsored by the parish commission on missions and is open to the public.

Outagamie Board Rejects Sheriff-Traffic Staff Merger

Expressway Work to Start This Year

College Avenue Extension to East To be First Project

NEENAH — The initial steps in the proposed Fox Valley expressway system will get underway this year with the construction of the two-lane College Avenue extension, according to Eugene Franchett, executive director of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission.

Franchett told members of the Neenah Club at their Monday meeting that federal funds totaling 50 per cent of the cost of the project would be available. Action is underway by Outagamie County officials to secure right of way land for the highway, a link in the total $23 million expressway package.

Wouldn't Speculate

However, Franchett declined to speculate on the starting date for the proposed bridges over Little Lake Butte des Morts or other sectors of the expressway.

He said the technical advisory committee was reviewing plans and cost estimates for the bridges, proposed at Ninth Street and County Trunk BB in the Town of Menasha, and their interchange facilities.

"The actual bridge structures don't amount to 50 per cent of the total costs," he said, referring to the expenses involved in the connecting interchanges.

Controversial Decision

Franchett explained the commission's controversial decision to invite the counties to participate in the planning unit. He said the expressway system would need county action. "Since the counties are expected to implement the plan, they should be able to participate in the planning."

He outlined the commission's work, noting it was the first regional planning unit in Wisconsin when it was established on May 3, 1956.

He spoke of the comprehensive plan, undertaken in 1960, which projected a Fox Valley population of 230,000 people by 1985 and accompanying economic growth.

Franchett said the commission has been working on open space agreements, uniform building codes and refuse disposal studies for the area which stretches from Kaukauna to Neenah.

Glenn Tellocks Win Top Farmer Award For Waupaca County

MANAWA — Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Tellock, Town of Union, were named winners of the Waupaca County Bankers Association's outstanding farm couple award at a banquet held here Tuesday.

The rural Manawa couple were selected for the award from 22 town winners.

Runner-up award was presented to Town of Waupaca winners, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Long, and their sons, Don and Keith.

Presentation of awards capped an afternoon program that opened with a banquet and talk by Gov. Warren P. Knowles.

163-Acre Farm

Winners of the award were selected for their work on farm improvement programs during 1965. The Tellocks own and operate a 163-acre farm.

The Tellocks have a herd of 80 grade Holsteins of which 45 are milk cows. They raise about 10 cross-bred beef cattle each year. As part of a soil conservation service plan, they have installed 1½ miles of large ditches one mile of surface field ditching, 1,150 feet of terraces and have a three-acre wildlife area on their farm.

In 1962 the Tellocks remodeled their barn and have it ready to go to a pipeline milking system. This past year they built a new house. These among other accomplishments were the factors which helped the couple win the award.

Conservation Plan

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Long and Mrs. Don Long and Keith Long, runners-up, own and operate as a partnership a 324-acre farm with 260 crop acres. They have 54 purebred Holstein cows with a herd average of 14,999 pounds of milk with a 3.8 per cent test and 563 pounds of fat. Soil conservation practices employed on their farm includes 22 acres of contour strip cropping, 29 acres of field strip cropping, 3,000 feet of sod waterways, 5,650 feet of surface ditching, 18 acres of protected woodland, 35 acres of wildlife habitat, four acres of tree planting and 14 acres of woodland management.

The farm families also are active in community activities.

Along with being presented the outstanding farm couple award, Mr. and Mrs. Tellock were given a US Savings Bond.

by H. L. Crane, president of the Waupaca County Bankers' Association.

The banquet and program was held at Art Schuelke's Cedar Springs Resort, two miles east of Manawa.

Final Selections

Banks sponsoring the annual event are the Embarrass State Bank, Dairman's State Bank, Clintonville, Clintonville National Bank, First State Bank, Iola, Farmers State Bank, Manawa, Marion State Bank, First State Bank, New London, New London National Bank, Farmers State Bank, Waupaca, First National Bank, Waupaca, Farmers and Merchants Bank, Weyauwega, and Fremont Branch, Appleton State Bank.

Township winners and the final selection is made by past winners of the award which is now in its 15th year. The Waupaca County Soil Conservation office and extension office supervise the judging program.

6 Candidates Nominated At Stockbridge

Village Board Seeks Bids for Curb and Gutter Development

STOCKBRIDGE — Six candidates were nominated for village trustees Monday at the annual spring caucus. The names of John Karls, David Schommer, Glen Torbeck, James Parsons, Robert Schroeder and Richard Demier will appear on the April ballot with the top three voted getting to win seats on the village board.

A 5-year payment plan has been proposed by the sanitary sewage district board. Persons applying for a building permit will be allowed to pay the $400 sanitary sewage connection assessment in five payments. The first payment being due when application is made, the second payment due March 1 of the following year. If a permit is obtained after Dec. 1 the first payment would be on March 1.

Seek Bids

Bids for curb and gutter are being accepted for the area south of County Trunk E on State 55. Curb and gutter will be installed on the east side of the road with the possibility of some work on the west side. The boundaries would extend from where curb and gutter now ends to the end of the village proper.

A special meeting for residents of the area will be held Monday, March 14. A representative from McMahon Associates Inc., Menasha, will explain the boundaries at that time. No deadline date has been set for the opening of bids.

Waupaca Grass Fire

WAUPACA — Firemen were called at 10:10 a.m. Tuesday, to extinguish a grass fire in a ravine behind a home at 315 High St. The fire was quickly brought under control. There was no damage.

Issue Being Re-Drafted For New Try

For the fourth time in as many years the Outagamie County Board has defeated a proposal to combine the traffic police and sheriff's departments.

However, when the proposal was defeated Tuesday afternoon, it was defeated in a new and novel manner. Both opponents and some of the proponents of the principle of law enforcement consolidation combined to vote Tuesday afternoon's resolution down by a 31 to 17 vote.

Several of the "no" votes Tuesday came from supervisors who objected to the hastiness in which the motion was prepared and several problems which the resolution failed to take into consideration.

New Resolution

However, the principle of law enforcement consolidation wasn't killed as a result of Tuesday's action. A group of supervisors were making plans late Tuesday to introduce another resolution at today's board session. Today's proposal was likely to be an "advisory referendum to future county boards." The resolution probably will be on whether the board favors the principle of consolidating the two departments.

County Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer (Kimberly), a supporter of consolidation, voted against Tuesday's plan and referred to it as "a motion to consolidate the departments under somebody in some way."

The board became bogged down in red tape and confusion after the executive committee was ordered by the board late in the morning to bring the matter before the board in the afternoon's session.

A "resolution" was read to the board that had been made up by a special six-man subcommittee, composed of three members of the executive and law enforcement committees. However, Fulcer pointed out that there was technically no official motion before the board because the subcommittee's resolution was unsigned. He explained that there were differences among members of the subcommittee and among the two full committees and that they hadn't been ironed out.

Abolish Undersheriff

Under the unsigned resolution, the undersheriff's position was to be abolished, a chief deputy's job was created. The chief deputy's job was put in salary grade 21 and two lieutenant's jobs were created in grade 17. Under the plan, both were to be civil service positions.

Since the plan placed the sheriff at the top of both departments, with the chief deputy directly under him and over four other county law enforcement sections, the plan also covered the consolidation scheme.

However, Supv. Mark Catlin (Appleton 7) pointed out that the plan was unworkable because if the chief deputy was a civil service job he would not legally have to follow orders given by the sheriff.

Under Board Control

Some backers of the consolidation scheme then pointed out that the original resolution, which was sent to the executive committee for study last December, did not place the chief deputy under civil service, but only under county board control.

The December resolution,

Gov. Knowles Speaks at Manawa

Sciences to Aid Farm Production

BY JOHN SAWALL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MANAWA — The complaints of a mountain farm surplus of a few years ago are now gone and supplying enough food for the growing population of the nation and world is becoming a problem, Gov. Warren P. Knowles, said Tuesday at the 15th annual Waupaca County Bankers Association, Farmers Awards Day banquet.

However, he said, the situation will be solved by the ability of farmers to produce more by using new sciences in farming.

Farm economy also is improving, Knowles said. "For the past 10 years or more, the farmer has been short changed," he said, but this also is being changed. "Today we can see a better situation. Prices have risen, demand is increasing and we are face-to-face with a world food situation that will certainly demand increased production from our farmers," he said.

Continued Growth

With the continued growth in agriculture, Wisconsin is holding its own with other states, Knowles said. Wisconsin still outranks Minnesota and New York in fluid milk production, produces 50 per cent of the nation's cheese and is second in butter production. Despite the production of 18 billion pounds of fluid milk and 65 million pounds of butter last year there is still a fluid milk shortage, he said.

With the increased demand for milk and butter and an increase in price, Knowles said he is confident that the Wisconsin farmer will come through with record production figures next year. As a result of this there will be prosperity for Wisconsin farm families in the future.

Knowles said, a few years ago there was enough surplus food to last 90 days, but now the nation would be three weeks away from starvation if the supply of milk, butter, eggs, and meat were stopped.

Commends Winners

A better farm economy may close the price gap between the cost of machinery and what the farmer receives for his products.

Knowles commended the 22 town winners on their fine farm practices which earned them a right to be present at the banquet. "As we read of the tremendous problems that lie ahead in the fight to insure all people of a reasonable amount of food each day," Knowles said, "we must recognize that unless we do manage our soil and water intelligently we are not going to make a maximum contribution to the world-wide battle against starvation that is ultimately going to command the attention of American farmers."

"Farming is a business as well as a way of life and it is on the threshold of better things to come," Knowles said.

The governor explained now Wisconsin is increasing food production capacity by adding more types of crops. Calpac, one of the nation's largest producers of canned and fresh vegetables, has now built a plant at Plover and many more will come, he said, because of "our great natural resource of water," he said.

Dr. Ruth Hine, Madison, from the Wisconsin Conservation Department, directed remarks to the farm women. Speaking on the joy of country living, Dr. Hine said the country is the only place where there is physical and mental elbow room and that the farm wives should consider themselves lucky to have this freedom.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Tellock, rural Manawa, received the Outstanding Waupaca County Farmer award Tuesday at the Waupaca County Bankers Association banquet at Manawa. The couple was

Senator Nelson on Air Service

The Aviation Subcommittee of the Senate Commerce Committee is currently conducting an investigation into the federal government's role in providing air service to the various communities of the country. A statement made to the subcommittee by Senator Nelson regarding local air service problems in Wisconsin is of particular interest in this area.

The junior Wisconsin senator declared he was convinced "we are about to commit a tragic blunder in air transportation comparable to the blunders of the past involving surface transportation. It appears that many of our growing communities are about to lose their local airline service just the way they lost their railroad service in the past."

Sen Nelson pointed out that while this is taking place the airlines in this country recorded their biggest revenues in history—a total of $2,500,000,000. Profits in 1965 were 18 per cent higher than the previous year and 300 per cent increased over 1955.

The senator cited the loss of airline service in Appleton, Ashland and Clintonville in Wisconsin. In the case of Ashland, he noted that the CAB cited as one of its reasons for ordering Ashland served from Ironwood, Mich., was that the government would save $28,000 a year in subsidies. Yet at the same time the governors of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota were meeting with the Secretary of Commerce to establish an Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission to plan the economic development of this region. The government has already spent considerable money in economic development in the north and will spend millions more in the future. "It strikes me as a strange form of economy and questionable public policy to terminate air service to a struggling community to save $28,000 a year while pouring millions into the same area under other programs."

The senator also cited the irony of the Clintonville situation where North Central was born, and where the businessmen of the community now are discussing buying a plane to fly to Chicago. Twenty years after they pioneered in local service aviation, they are right back again where they started."

The senator had no detailed comments on the Appleton situation but he was critical of state aviation authorities as well as the federal bureaucracy for not having long ago developed a master plan of airport development and airline service.

Such thinking on the part of state and national authorities in years gone by would have avoided the situation in which Outagamie and Winnebago Counties now find themselves. But it's not too late for a complete state and federal reevaluation of plans for the future, and we are glad to hear Senator Nelson's voice heard in behalf of that project.

Our Aims in Viet Nam

One of the reasons for so much confusion over whether or not the United States government should negotiate with the Viet Cong or National Liberation Front in Viet Nam is that both advocates and critics have qualified original statements and no one is quite sure what anyone, including the Viet Cong, exactly represents.

Senator Robert Kennedy started much of the argument when he suggested such negotiations and then apparently was supported by General Maxwell Taylor. Senator Ted Kennedy has also advised dealing with the Viet Cong but not assuring them a place in a future government. Meanwhile some observers have suggested that the main reason why our peace feelers to North Viet Nam got nowhere this winter is because Hanoi, where they are aimed, cannot speak for the Viet Cong. But Johnson Administration spokesmen have lately discarded any ideas of negotiating directly with the National Liberation Front although there are vows that the people of South Viet Nam may have any kind of government they want if it is attained through free elections.

Certainly there is a conflict here that the Protestant journal, Christianity and Crisis, pinpoints in an editorial. "Beneath all the immediate perplexities is the deep confusion in our government's aims. Sometimes the stated policy is to prevent any gains for Communism. At other times it is to give the people of Viet Nam their free choice of a government—and that, everybody knows, may be a Communist government." If the free choice of government is to be the reason why Americans are dying in Viet Nam, why are not they also fighting in all the African countries which have military dictatorships, in Spain, in Cuba or Indonesia? And if preventing Communist advances is the aim, then can we really afford to allow a people to elect a Red government?

In 1954 Ho Chi Minh apparently thought such a government would be elected or he would not have agreed to sign the Geneva accords since he was winning the war. The only other signatory to the treaty was France which promptly withdrew from Viet Nam after setting up a puppet regime of Bao Dai, later tossed out by the late President Diem. Observers seem to think that had Diem held nationwide elections at almost any time, Ho would have been the winner. At any rate, as columnist John Chamberlain points out, any elections in Viet Nam mean that the people in power win since the mountain and jungle peasants merely want to play safe and be on the winning side.

The American strategy, whatever are the official denials, seems now to be to defeat the Viet Cong or so decimate their ranks that their terrorism will fade away and give the government of General Ky an opportunity to improve village conditions and sell his government to the people. But about the only thing that the argument about negotiating with the Viet Cong or agreeing to a coalition government has done is emphasize once again the confusion over basic aims of our own government.

Nkrumah Is Well Off

The United States government has recognized with some haste the new regime in Ghana which overthrew the government of Kwame Nkrumah while he was conveniently out of town visiting his friends in Peking.

The timing of recognition indicates that the Johnson Administration is still trying to use official recognition as an instrument of foreign policy.

There have been six other coups in African countries in the last few months and each time the United States government waited several weeks before duly recognizing the regime in control. In part this delay may have been caused by doubt as to the success of maintaining power of the new governments. But generally it has been because the coups were accomplished by military groups and we didn't want to appear to be on their side too soon.

In the case of Ghana, however, the United States has increasingly frowned on Nkrumah's rule. There have even been rumors that the Central Intelligence Agency, the whipping boy of foreign governments, helped plot Nkrumah's ouster. The overthrow was aimed not only at ending the idolization of Nkrumah but as an attempt to restore some sound economic practices to the almost bankrupt nation. And apparently plans for the future have been extremely well organized by Ghanians who have turned sour on Nkrumah's brand of socialism.

In the meantime, few people need shed tears over Nkrumah. Now in Guinea, he has been proclaimed there as Guinea's head of state although there have been efforts made to explain that this is only an honorary title and could legally be done under Guinea's constitution which says that all Africans "who are instruments of the African revolution" are citizens of Guinea as well as of their own countries. According to Nkrumah's own financial advisor, The Redeemer accumulated some $7 million while head of Ghana in some rather ingenious ways. There was the National Development Corporation, for instance, in which all civil servants had to insure their automobiles, and there was the Guinea Press, which published the naturally pro-Nkrumah newspapers, and several office buildings and housing complexes. Although Nkrumah was apt to give critics of his government policies Marxist literature to read, he obviously didn't follow his own advice.

Certainly the United States ought to recognize the new regime. But there has been little evidence that our recognition or withholding of it influences the future of governments of other countries. By attempting to make it seem that it does, the United States risks the embarrassment of backing governments which themselves may be tossed out overnight in the general chaos of Africa.

Crescent Observations Noted

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for March 8, 1866.

The Crescent, in exultation of spirit at the reformation it discovers in President Johnson, since the 4th of March, 1865, of late abounds in somewhat original observations, where of the following are samples:

"The head career of traitorous fanaticism is checked. The Union must and shall be preserved. Glory, Hallelujah! God be praised forever and ever! The incorruptible Johnson is the saviour of his country. Glory to God in the highest, and peace and good will among men."

Query—What men? Freedmen? Radicals and all? Or only Copperheads, traitors and the President?

Taylor Writes

Freeman's Law: More Workers In Ag Department Than Farmers

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

It's sickening to see how the politicians charge their mistakes to us, make us pay for their waste and often their greed, and then when they put taxes up they tell us it's our responsibility.

We pay or go to jail, because "it's in the public welfare." What gall! I, for one, am fed up with it.

Taylor

They pull one immense blunder after another in foreign policy. Think of the thousands of dollars these have cost each working man.

Who pays for our billions proven misspent in many of 82 countries? These are billed to our working people.

Who pays for the lack of statesmanship that got us into the land war in Asia which President Johnson inherited? Nations often are faced by the choice between dishonor and war. The task of real statesmanship is precisely to avoid the one as well as the other. When statesmen fail it is they who are responsible.

On the day President Kennedy was inaugurated there were only 77 U. S. military men in Viet Nam and all were serving only as advisors. Now, in an angry press conference or March 2, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara ticks off a figure of 235,000, not even counting our fighters offshore in the great Seventh Fleet.

Mr. McNamara neglected to tell us that it costs $7,265 a year to keep one soldier overseas.

The Office of Strategic Services, conducted the nation's world wide espionage throughout four years in World War II for about $135 million. Today's equivalent, the Central Intelligence Agency, spends an estimated $800 million each year. The CIA is now much larger than the State Department and spends twice as much money. It was formed to bring competing intelligence agencies under control. Yet what do we also see? Along comes Mr. McNamara with the Pentagon's own Defense Intelligence Agency (DIA) which has grown and grown and which now has 5,700 employees that rival the CIA and a budget that remains Mr. McNamara's secret.

In the Department of Agriculture it's commonly stated that "Parkinson's Law" has a rival. It's called "Freeman's Law." Since Mr. Freeman took command the department payrollees have increased from 98,694 to 117,481. This boost is 20 per cent. Farm population, however, has decreased from 15.6 million to 12.5 million. This decline is 20 per cent. In short, 20 per cent fewer farmers, but 20 per cent more bureaucrats on the public payroll.

Somebody figured that at Freeman's rate we'll have more Department of Agriculture employees than there are farmers within 30 years.

A Senator says Sergeant Shriver's spenders searched a city of 10,000 in his state looking for people to get his poverty war largess (our money) and located a total of 24. Then, with a second look and local protests, the 24 shrank to 10. Shriver's crews outnumbered the people they rushed to help.

Who pays for the immense mistakes in stockpile inventories? These inventories have cost the working people about $13 billion. Stockpiles objectives are fixed for 76 of 94 materials. Of these, more than 60 are stockpiled in excess of their objectives. This is our money, so each of us has a direct interest in the (continuing) mistake.

And are we to forget that the Congressmen merrily voted themselves an increase in their own salaries. This, of course, we also pay. Then on top of everything, the conflict of interest, the relatives on the public payroll and the inside ties—also charged to us, is utterly disgusting.

MAULDIN CARTOON

Perhaps you saw marvelous Bill Mauldin's cartoon in which he pictured Bobby Baker as a parrot, saying: "If they cage me I might take up singing."

Taxes must be increased? Working people must pay more?

Taxpayers are the biggest blor in our country. Sen. William E. Borah once observed that the marvel of all history is the patience with which working men and women submit to burdens unnecessarily placed on them by their government. The only thing that can puncture today's political piracy is some kind of taxpayers' revolt at the polls.

This is a demonstration long overdue and it's high time we threw the responsibility for our taxes right smack where it belongs.

The wholesale price index has gone up again. Now when the President talks about inflation he says "I can get it for you wholesale."

That student who burned his college data processing card after folding and mutilating it had to go back for another one—he forgot to spindile it.

Congress can't understand why we need so much more money for the war on poverty. Sure, prices are higher, but you can be poor as cheaply as ever.

The TV nets want Johnson to give a fireside chat, and he probably will. He's just waiting for Wayne Morse to burn down to a warm, cheerful glow.

Explosion Also Noted In Number of Students Doing Graduate Work

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — There is a tendency to contemplate the portentous explosion in higher education enrollment in tax-supported institutions in terms of undergraduate students, those in four-year courses of study leading to a bachelor's degree. That trend for ever heavier enrollments is significant enough. But equally significant, and perhaps more important in long-range implications for the Wisconsin education system, is the enormously increasing interest in graduate study by the typical college student, and the vast adjustments within the education system that are being made to accommodate it.

Wyngaard

Graduate enrollment at the University of Wisconsin in Madison now accounts for about 25 per cent of the total which is pushing 30,000, and will no doubt represent a steadily larger ratio of the whole which university authorities are now estimating will reach 40,000 within a very few years.

Not as widely noted as it deserved was the decision of the board of regents of the state university system a month ago to broaden the graduate offerings of their nine schools into what would be full-fledged graduate schools. The issue will be before the Coordinating Committee for High Education soon. There is very little doubt about its ratification.

RATIONALE

A generation ago, or even a decade ago, such a proposition might have raised some eyebrows among University of Wisconsin Madison administrators. There might have been a tendency to resist. But there is no such tendency visible today. The attitude appears to be that there will be plenty of students to go around, perhaps too many. Expansion of graduate study opportunity in the smaller schools around the state, rather than being viewed as an unfavorable development on the Madison campus, is regarded as inevitable and perhaps helpful in permitting the university to manage its own enormously increased enrollment pressures.

Graduate studies in the nine state universities were begun only a few years ago. Thus far they are limited to pedagogical subjects reflecting the historic function of those institutions as teacher training schools. The new proposition is to expand the graduate instruction into nonteaching fields, thus following the steady curriculum expansion of the schools for the benefit of undergraduates.

It is not always appreciated, because of the long decades of identification of these schools as "teachers' colleges," that they are now regular liberal arts colleges as well. Up to a third of the undergraduate degrees awarded in the typical school are now going to nonteaching majors. The current proposal for general graduate departments is another reflection of the emergence of the institutes as genuine "universities," without disparagement of their historical function as producers of public school teachers.

THE DEMAND

It is not difficult to perceive that the time is at hand when graduate school will be as normal an aspiration for the new college matriculant as the four-year degree was in his parents' time. The emphasis upon graduate school credits in teaching is evident in the salary schedule in almost all of the Wisconsin local school systems. The desirability of a graduate degree is increasingly demonstrated in many other occupations. In some fields, indeed, the student competing with a plain B. A. degree finds himself at a disadvantage, as the state university regents were reminded in a staff report supporting the graduate studies expansion program last week.

These matters are familiar enough to the educational administrators and planners. But they have not yet been told with clarity and conviction to the policy makers, including legislators and their taxpaying constituents. The educational revolution is not only one of more high school students going to college but of students going to college for longer and more costly periods.

How Does Boy Prove His Manhood Today?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Throughout history, boys have always had a great need to prove that they possess the virtues of courage, endurance and skill. And until modern times, societies have always provided the opportunities for this.

Harris

The 20th Century rise in juvenile delinquency is, of course, the result of many factors. One of the most important, I am convinced, is the lack of opportunity for boys to prove their prowess without getting into trouble.

As we become more and more urbanized and technological, as the frontier disappears, as the challenge of nature becomes subdued, as density of population and congestion of traffic increase — more and more boys are less and less able to find suitable activities for challenging their physical aptitudes. This is one reason, by the way, that organized sports have become so overemphasized in our time.

Adolescent boys in the big cities find it increasingly difficult to grow up in the traditional fashion. If they are venturesome, they get into trouble; if they are aggressive, there are no proper objects around to vent their aggressiveness on, except each other, in tight little gangs. And, most of all, the kind of men they used to model themselves on — the skillful hunter and trapper — have all but vanished today.

Their models, therefore, become professional athletes of entertainers or criminals — for these are the only three kinds of people in modern society who seem to live outside the established rules, who can get away with forms of conduct denied to men in more conventional occupations.

In primitive societies, the leaders were wise enough to know the value of the "rites de passage" — the ritual by which a young man proved his emergence into manhood. He was forced to fast, to go into solitude, to paddle through rapids, to engage in tournaments of strength and skill and stamina. All this was done with community approval, and without really hurting anybody else.

Modern society has taken this way and provided no equivalent to drain off the highly-charged kinetic energies of boys. So they invent their own games — playing "chicken" in autos is one of the most dangerous forms — and use adult society as the antagonist. There is no sense of community in what they do, rather, the community has become the enemy.

This has happened in nation after nation, as each country becomes more urbanized and mechanized. It is not so much a moral or a parental problem as it is a "problem of civilization." Much of what we glibly call "delinquency" comes from frustration — for if a youth cannot prove his manhood with tests set and approved by the community, he will prove it to his peers with acts of bravado directed against the community.

have been given that we seek no wider war."

Johnson got some support Tuesday — plus a word of caution — from an expert on China, A. Doak Barnett, acting director of Columbia University's East Asian Institute.

Barnett told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the United States should continue to fight Communist subversion and insurrection and stand on its pledge to defend Formosa, capital of the Nationalist Chinese government.

In Viet Nam, Barnett advocated "continued military and political action."

On the other hand, Barnett said, "we not only should not escalate" in Viet Nam, "but should de-escalate."

"It would be a dangerous error to conclude that Communist China would not risk major war if it genuinely felt that its vital interests were threatened," he told the committee which opened its hearings on Red China Tuesday.

Barnett suggested that the United States should acknowledge the Communist regime as the government of mainland China and support Red China's admission to the United Nations, along with Nationalist China. The United States also should exchange diplomatic representatives with Red China, he said.

Man Blames Confusion for Gun Incident

CHICAGO (AP) — A young man who said he was "all mixed up" over the financing of his car rushed into the finance company Tuesday and fired a shotgun into the ceiling.

Forty customers and employees ducked behind desks as George Schwartz, 21, of Chicago, a stockboy for the Chicago Board of Education, grabbed a woman receptionist and brandished the gun.

The manager of the Winter & Hirsch Finance Co. office on the near South Side talked Schwartz into surrendering, said police Sgt. Lewis Smith, who was summoned by a man in a building next door.

Police disarmed Schwartz. They quoted him as saying, "I was all mixed up. I was all confused. I didn't care what happened. I was just very glad when it was all over."

Schwartz told police he was angry because Winter & Hirsch tried to collect the unpaid balance of a $3,500 loan from Schwartz's brother-in-law, Vincent Heileman, who consigned the note. Schwartz said he bought the car in 1963 for $2,200 and the finance company repossessed it in August 1964 when he fell behind in his payments, but that he was still liable for his debts.

Schwartz said the company threatened to garnish his brother-in-law's wages to collect.

Paper Producers Raise Eastern Newsprint Price

NEW YORK (AP)—Two Canadian producers have increased their prices for newsprint sold in eastern United States markets $10 a ton, effective April 1.

The increase to $144 a ton from $134 f.o.b., was made by Domtar Newsprint, Ltd., and Bowater Paper Corp.'s North American group.

Industry sources said other producers for the eastern market are likely to follow.

The boosts came less than a week after a $10 a ton increase to $134 a ton by Crown Zellerbach Corp. for newsprint sold in Western markets. The increases were the first since 1957.

Domtar and Bowater attributed their increases to rising costs, particularly labor, in the past nine years. Some of their competitors also mentioned costs in noting generally that they were studying the increases.

A spokesman for Canadian International Paper Co., the largest newsprint producer in Canada, said, "rising costs certainly are a problem with us. We've made no adjustments in price in nine years."

ment.

"As the campaign progresses I am sure the people will be enlightened as many previous conflicting statements will be clarified in regard to matters affecting the city and our citizens," Mitchell added.

Fiscal Position

Buckley, who has made the city's fiscal position his main campaign target to date, left no doubt that he would step up his efforts between now and next election day to gain public support.

In a prepared statement, Buckley said:

"I feel humble and I am deeply grateful to the people of Appleton for supporting my candidacy and placing their faith in me; it is a faith that I shall never betray if elected mayor next month."

"I am also most grateful to each of the 118 people who formed my campaign committee for their diligent efforts in my behalf. This is the greatest group with whom I have ever been my honor to work."

"Now — after a brief rest — we shall redouble our efforts and we shall again call on the people of Appleton for their support on April 5."

Mitchell and Buckley, both 49 years old, are hard-working campaigners, and each has a different style.

Buckley, a former Illinois assistant attorney general and one-term Chicago alderman, came here in 1960 and in 1962 was elected to the Appleton City Council.

He has waged quiet, personal, handshaking campaigns while emphasizing economy in government and holding the line on taxes.

Mitchell, on the other hand, has pointed to the record and accomplishments of his administration over the past years in meeting the needs of a rapidly growing Appleton.

Biggest Showing

Buckley's biggest showing in Tuesday's election came in the 8th Ward where he piled up 405 votes to 206 for Mitchell and 123 for Maves.

He also carried his own 14th Ward, 250-222 over Mitchell, something he failed to do in the 1964 election. Buckley also carried Maves' ward the 15th.

Mitchell was the top vote-getter in his own 16th Ward, along with the 1st, 2nd, 7th, 10th, 12th and 17th Wards.

A few of the southside wards that went Mitchell's way two years ago were captured by Buckley this time. The 13th Ward gave him a strong 319 votes compared to 182 for Mitchell and 148 for Maves.

The turnout in nippy, cloudy weather was bigger than the special Sept., 1965, referendum election when 11.47% of the 22,500 registered voters (51.5 per cent) cast ballots.

Rounding out the figures, Buckley got about 38 per cent of the total vote. Mitchell finished with 35 per cent and Maves had 26 per cent.

The first official returns received at city hall came in from the 16th Ward at 8:30 p.m.—just 30 minutes after the polls closed. And the 3rd Ward results followed three minutes later. At that point the scoreboard read: Buckley 350, Mitchell 338 and Maves 314. There was a pattern.

Pollution Fight Needs Funds, Not Agency

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin's war against water pollution needs more funds, not a new agency, says Lawrence Mott, chairman of the State Committee on Water Pollution.

Creation of a new agency to take over the fight would set back the campaign from two to five years, Mott said Tuesday in a report to the State Conservation Commission.

North Viet Nam Tuesday, the spokesman reported.

Air Force fighter-bombers, on 25 missions struck roads and bridges and returned for the second consecutive day to the Son La fuel storage area 123 miles west of Hanoi. Pilots reported they caught six trucks in the open and destroyed a highway bridge 22 miles north of the 17th Parallel frontier with South Viet Nam.

Navy Mission

The Navy's 22 missions from the carriers Ranger and Kitty Hawk concentrated on communication lines in the North Vietnamese panhandle south and east of Vinh. A series of violent secondary explosions 30 miles northwest of Dong Hoi indicated the 7th Fleet fliers hit an ammunition dump, the spokesman said.

Strategic Air Command B52s returned this morning to Binh Duong Province for the second day in a row, hitting what was identified as a Viet Cong base camp 35 miles northwest of Saigon. A spokesman said three different Red regiments had used the camp since January.

Casualty Figures

In Saigon, casualty figures for last week announced by the U.S. and South Vietnamese commands showed a sharp decline in Allied combat dead and a marked rise in Communist losses.

Of the 274 Allied troops reported killed in battle, 61 were Americans. In the previous week, 506 Allied men were reported killed, including 109 Americans.

However, the report did not include U.S. Marine casualties in the hard fighting last weekend northwest of Quang Ngai, near the central coast.

Viet Cong dead climbed to 1,622, the highest toll of the year, and 193 Reds were captured, Allied spokesmen said. In the previous week, 1,122 Communists were reported killed and 92 captured.

The number of U.S. wounded dropped from 747 to 177. One man was listed missing in action. There were no missing the week before.

Sampans Sunk

In the air war, U.S. Air Force, Marine and Navy planes sank 66 sampans and damaged 50 more, a spokesman said, after a forward air controller in a spotter plane sighted a flotilla of 150 Viet Cong sampans on waterways 10 miles northwest of Quang Ngai.

The attack was made near the battleground where U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops smashed the North Vietnamese 21st Regiment in Operation Utah over the weekend.

Wall Street Journal Editor Dies at 80

NEW YORK (AP) — Oliver J. Gingold broke into financial reporting at a time when the only way to get company reports or dividend news was to attend the stockholder meetings.

Gingold once recalled that the reports were often read hurriedly just to make it hard for reporters to add the figures. "The present system of operating business in a fish bowl is much better for the people and the country," he said.

Gingold, 80, editor of the Wall Street Journal's "Abreast of the Market," column since 1933, died Tuesday at his home of pneumonia.

A native of London, he came to this country in 1900 and immediately went to work for the Journal. He was the last Journal staff member to have worked with Charles H. Dow, editor of the newspaper and a partner in Dow Jones & Co.

State's Universities
To Have 2,844
On Staffs in Fall

MADISON (AP)—The faculty payroll for 2,844 on staffs of the nine state universities will total $27 million next year, the university system's central office noted Tuesday.

Under a salary program approved by the Legislature and the regents of state colleges, pay for the next school year will average $12,262 for professors, $10,256 for associate professors, $9,054 for assistant professors and $7,788 for instructors.

The payroll distribution by the number of faculty members and total payments in millions is:

Eau Claire, 325 and $3.1; La Crosse, 293 and $2.8; Oshkosh, 488 and $4.5; Platteville, 265 and $2.6; River Falls, 246 and $2.3; Stevens Point, 339 and $3.2; Stout, 236 and $2.3; Superior, 189 and $1.8; and Whitewater, 463 and $4.3.

The office said that 71 faculty members will move to the top academic rank of full professor County Highway GG north of July 1.

Nelson, Proxmire Cast Opposing Votes in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Wisconsin Democratic Sens. Gaylord Nelson and William Proxmire took opposing sides Tuesday in two Senate votes.

The Senate defeated an amendment to eliminate two excise tax increases from the administration tax bill. Nelson voted for the amendment, Proxmire against.

On another roll call, the Senate approved by a 45-40 vote an amendment directing the government to pay $44 a month to $1.8 million Americans 70 years old or over who had previously been uncovered by the social security program. Among them are teachers, firemen, policemen and government employees. Nelson voted for the amendment, Proxmire against.

LBJ Holds Higher Tax As Anti-Inflation Shield

By JOSEPH R. COYNE for a rise of roughly 16 per cent hands of the Federal Reserve. The discount rate is now at its highest level since the Roaring Twenties, a fact which might prompt the board to turn to other measures if it feels further monetary restraint is needed. One possibility seldom invoked in recent years would be to boost reserve requirements of banks belonging to the system. The ultimate anti-inflationary tool — wage and price controls — is generally considered a last resort. For other banks, wartime measure and has been legally the rate could be raised given little serious attention. Officials view it only as a last resort as high as 22 per cent for major resort.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration is sticking to its wait-and-see position on inflation but is readying a big gun — increased taxes — if needed to stop an inflationary breakthrough later.

When that time might come in the opinion of the administration, if ever, is still anybody's guess.

But the Treasury is hard at work on a kit of ready-to-use plans for temporary tax boosts, and the pressures on President Johnson to send them to Congress soon were heightened this week by further signs of a heating economy.

One was Johnson's own disclosure that industry's plant and equipment spending plans call for a rise of roughly 16 per cent in 1966, a bit larger than the 1965 increase. Another was status and need not wait for an administration signal to use them. It has used one already — an increase in the discount rate. This is the rate charged by the Federal Reserve Banks for borrowings by banks which are members of the system. The increase in December from 4 to 4.5 per cent was designed to discourage mounting demands on banks for credit.

Recent Speculation

There has been recent speculation that a further increase was being considered. The board replies that it never comments on rumors. A spokesman says it is too early to assess the full impact on the December 1965 increase.

Raise Unwanted

Johnson has given notice he will move promptly for higher taxes "if such action appears necessary." But his advisers want first to see the effect of the House-approved $4.8 billion stop-gap tax package due for Senate action today. Neither the White House nor Congress wants another tax boost if it can be avoided — especially in an election year.

Other anti-inflation tools are available. Some are in the use
